Ready To Reduce Armaments

Ike Tells Chilean Congress U.S. Will Fight Aggression

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today the United States "is ready to fulfill its treaty obligations with strength and promptness and firmness" if any American nation becomes a victim of aggression.

The President told the Chilean Congress that the United States is prepared to cooperate in any practical step for reducing expenditures on armaments, a step advocated by President Jorge Alessandri of Chile.

Eisenhower warned, however, that "procedures for achieving limitations and assurance of compliance will not be easy."

"The level of armaments which a nation feels it must maintain to assure the safety of its people involves a decision which the sovereign authority of that country must make for itself," he said.

"Multilateral agreements can be achieved if each nation of the hemisphere has confidence that it need not fear unprovoked aggression."

Prior to his appearance before Congress he told 1,200 American residents and members of Chilean-American organizations that the United States "wants every American republic to become strong economically as well as politically and socially."

"We know that only strong nations in our divided world can be sure of retaining their precious freedom," he said.

There was no contradiction in the American policy of nonintervention in other nation's affairs with its fostering of "freedom representative democracy through the hemisphere," he told the Americans.

The President leaves Wednesday for Montevideo, Uruguay, and the last formal calls of his four-nation, 10-day tour. On Thursday, he flies to Puerto Rico where he plans to rest for several days.

News dispatches reporting Eisenhower's apparent tiredness in Bariloche, Argentina, Sunday, prompted his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, to announce Monday night that the 69-year-old chief executive is "in fine physical condition and in good health."

Eisenhower appeared in good spirits during Monday's arrival ceremonies in Santiago. Through most of the 30-minute motorcade he stood and waved to the friendly and unexpectedly large crowds, estimated at between 400,000 and 700,000.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had been taking the daily midday rest which doctors had ordered following his 1955 heart attack. Asked if the President was getting as much rest as he does in Washington, Hagerty replied, "I don't see how he could. He is on a trip."

Eisenhower and Alessandri spent part of Monday reviewing plans for curbs on the arms race —an idea favored by both. Alessandri has advocated, but not made a formal proposal, for a special Inter - American conference on disarmament.

Eisenhower told Alessandri the United States will not liquidate its copper stockpile as has been rumored. Hagerty said such a move would blow the bottom out of the copper market.

Dramatic Turn In California

Chessman 'Willing To Die' If Death Law Is Abolished

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Caryl Chessman's offer to die in the gas chamber brought a dramatic new element today into California's gathering legislative battle over capital punishment.

The convict-author wrote Gov. Edmund G. Brown he is willing to end his fight for life if the California Legislature will vote to abolish the death penalty for everybody else.

"I offer . . . my life," said the convict who was condemned in 1948 as a perverted sex-kidnaper.

"I give my solemn word before the world that I will never challenge such a law in the courts and I will disavow any attempt by any attorney purporting to act in my behalf."

For almost 12 of his 38 years, Chessman has fought to escape the gas chamber. But now, he told the governor, if his death will ease the way to the abolition of capital punishment, he is willing to die.

He said he had asked himself what he could do to "divorce the ugly, emotion-inflamed image of Caryl Chessman from the grave social issue of capital punishment."

Chessman's 7,000-word letter was delivered to the Capitol Monday night by a highway patrolman. It arrived on the day the Legislature reconvened with strong evidence it would refuse to repeal capital punishment.

Brown signed a 60-day reprieve for the curly-haired, hawk-nosed convict in the pre-dawn hours before his scheduled execution Feb. 18. The governor has come under withering criticism—even talk of impeachment—for tieing his action to proposed rewriting of the death penalty law.

There was no comment from Brown on Chessman's offer. An aide said the letter was released to the press before the governor took it to the executive mansion to read.

Bond Fixed At $5,000 In Embezzlement Case

Alton Charles Fields, 36, of Salem, accused of embezzling $33,600 from the Salem bank where he worked for 14 years, was bound over to the Federal District Court in Cleveland Monday afternoon when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Henry C. Robinson of Youngstown.

Fields waived a preliminary hearing at his arraignment on charges filed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation following his arrest Saturday night.

Father of 4 and a Purple Heart veteran of World War II, Fields was accused of taking the money in the last three years from the Farmers National Bank, where he had been employed 14 years as a loan teller. Admitting the theft, he said he used the money "for normal living expenses," the FBI said.

Bank Robber Hunted

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police searched today for a gunman who escaped with $421 in a holdup at a suburban McKees Rocks branch of the Pittsburgh National Bank.

Snow Double Normal Fall For February

The harried householder, his snow shovel handle well polished and aches in his back, was right—snow last month was nearly double the amount that normally falls in February. But the nasty month wasn't as cold as usual.

Despite the current long cold snap, February was slightly warmer than average, according to Edwin Copeland, who today released his monthly weather summary.

The average temperature last month was 27 degrees compared to the 26.9 degrees normal for February in the Millport observer's 65-year records. In 1958 the February temperature average was 30.7 degrees.

The 15 inches of snow that descended on the area was almost double the normal 8 inches and five times the amount that fell that month of 1958.

Copeland said the wind-blown snowfall of Feb. 19 drifted roads and low areas deeper in one day than the long six-week period of heavy winter did in 1945.

March Arrives Like 'Frozen Lamb'

March, whose weather depends on whether the month comes in like a lion or lamb, arrived more like "frozen lamb"—with temperatures near the zero range.

Millport recorded an official 2 above and Fredericktown had a similar low while Dam 8 reported 12 and the downtown had 13. Tonight's low may hit zero!

Port Of Agadir Wrecked

1,000 Are Feared Killed By 2 Quakes In Morocco

Tidal Wave, Fires Add To Disaster

U.S., French Troops Join In Rushing Aid To City Of 40,000

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Two giant earthquakes, fire and a tidal wave wrecked the south Moroccan port of Agadir in the night. Officials feared the death toll was 1,000 or more. French military authorities said at least 700 persons had been killed.

U. S. and French armed forces joined in relief efforts for the city of 40,000 on the Atlantic about 340 miles south of Casablanca.

Planes flew in doctors and medical supplies. The powerful U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean was alerted to send units to Agadir at full speed if the need arose.

The earthquakes, an hour and 22 minutes apart, were of such magnitude that measuring instruments in the Casablanca Observatory were damaged. The first came at 11:41 p. m., 6:41 p. m. EST, Monday, the second at 1:03 a. m., 8:03 p. m. EST. Fires broke out while rescue work was in progress.

The tidal wave apparently dashed 300 yards into the city through the harbor, guarded by a massive citadel atop a 720-foot rock. A Spanish ship, the Avelino Correa, radioed that the dock was cut in two and all the loading cranes collapsed.

Morocco's health minister, Dr. Youssef Ben Abbes, took to the Rabat Radio to appeal for blood donors. He asked full support from the people "in this terrible catastrophe."

Communications were wrecked. The French estimate of 700 dead, the first official account of casualties, was radioed from the French air base just outside Agadir.

Morocco has been an independent kingdom since 1956. Both French and U. S. forces, however, retain bases there. The United States has five bases, air and naval, which it expects to give up in the next couple of years. The French hold bases they built up while this northwest African territory was divided into French and Spanish protectorates and the Tangier International Zone.

About 5,000 of Agadir's residents are of European extraction. Hotels of the town, a favored tourist spot, were booked heavily last weekend.

Two hotels, and possibly three, and a dormitory for French communications workers collapsed.

The U.S., French and Moroccan air forces mobilized a massive airlift to evacuate the injured to Casablanca and other cities and bring in relief supplies.

Oakland Child Suffers Burns

Clothing Ignited By Water Heater Flame

A 10-year-old Oakland district boy suffered servere burns this morning when his clothing caught fire from the flame of a gas hot water heater in the kitchen at the family home, police reported.

William Ricky Bates, son of Mrs. Jean Bates of Valley Ave., is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with first and second degree burns of the right shoulder, chest and hand.

The boy told Patrolman Floyd K. Heddleston he was sitting beside the hot water heater for extra warmth when his shirt caught on fire from the flame. The boy ran upstairs from the basement kitchen and his mother smothered the flames with a blanket, officers said.

Police were summoned at 7:27 by Mrs. Thomas Bratt, 800 Valley Ave., a neighbor, as the Bates family does not have a telephone. Officer Heddleston went to the Bratt home to pick up the boy and take him to the hospital in a cruiser.

Racial Fights Dwindling At Lunch Places

By The Associated Press

Negro demonstrations for equal rights at traditionally segregated lunch counters in the South appeared to be slowing down today.

But some Negro student leaders said they had no intention of abandoning the sit-ins which mushroomed across the South during February.

Students at Alabama State College for Negroes in Montgomery planned to meet again today to consider a mass walkout if any student is expelled for taking part in anti - segregation demonstrations.

Th idea was advanced at a meeting of students Monday night after Gov. John Patterson insisted leaders of a Negro sit-down at the Montgomery courthouse lunch room Thursday should be expelled from Alabama State.

Fourteen Negro students from Voorhees Junior College were arrested at Denmark, S.C., after repeatedly seeking service at a drug store lunch counter. They were released later to a college official.

At Tampa, Fla., 57 Negroes sought service at a variety store lunch counter. They were refused and the counter closed. Police said the only violence occurred when the counter manager struck a photographer.

Fifteen Negro high school students occupied the entire serving counter at the Chapel Hill, N.C., bus station. The counter was closed after they refused to move into a section for Negroes only.

At Durham, N.C., two white teen-agers were arrested. Linda Ellen Teston, 17, of Durham, was charged with assault and battery after police said she spit on a Negro picketer and Ronnie Dale Broadwell, 18, of Chapel Hill, was charged with disorderly conduct.

In Henderson, N.C., a Negro student at nearby Kittrell College admitted beating a white man delivering groceries to the institution. Police said Robert Roberson, 24, of New York, told officers he assaulted Eddie Thompson, 25, because Thompson kicked him Friday during a student demonstration against segregated lunch counters.

None of the incidents approached in size the demonstrations and mass arrests which occurred over the weekend.

As an aftermath of Saturday's events, three students — two Negroes and a white — were convicted of disorderly conduct in connection with the lunch counter demonstrations at Nashville, Tenn.

In Senate 'Rights' Battle

'Round-The-Clock Session Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, in a dawn test, voted 55-6 today to continue indefinitely the around-the-clock session on civil rights.

The vote came shortly after 6:30 a. m. after the Senate had been in session 18½ hours in a drive by the leadership to break the deadlock over the rights legislation.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders are supporting plans to keep the Senate in session night and day this week without any recess in an effort to bring a civil rights bill to a decision.

The 55-6 vote defeated a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) to adjourn the Senate at 8 p. m.

Morse announced he was offering the motion to test sentiment on whether the around-the-clock session should continue.

Only six Southern Democrats supported the motion. It was opposed by 27 Republicans and 28 Democrats.

It required 48 minutes to round up the necessary 51 senators after the Southerners, making an all-out fight to filibuster the civil rights measure to death, had pulled the surprise quorum call.

The quorum was obtained only after Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas had moved, and the Senate had voted, to direct the sergeant at arms to round up absentees.

Two hours earlier, when the Southerners made their first quorum call, the civil rights forces came up with a much better showing. That time they produced a quorum in 21 minutes. The long-talking Southerners get to rest while 51 senators are herded in.

With the vote on Morse's motion out of the way, Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala) resumed the filibuster for the Southerners. An aide said Hill had 450 pages of material ready but did not plan to use all of them at this time.

Earlier in the session a Southern Democrat poked fun at any idea that the heavily Democratic Senate will adopt a Republican-sponsored civil rights bill.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla) forced the quorum call at 3:30 a.m. after talking—with an 80-minute interruption for other matters—for three hours and 20 minutes.

Council Authorizes Pair To Make Initial Inquiry Into Sources

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver will assume the initial responsibility of attempting to find ways in which East Liverpool can raise the $285,000 it will need by mid-July as its share of a $5,700,000 California Hollow-West End Freeway.

Council Monday night authorized the administration to investigate the fund-raising problem, climaxing a 90-minute discussion in the mayor's office.

Last night's conference was called to thresh over figures on the freeway's cost and the city's share, which were given to Council and the administration Wednesday night by officials of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

As the state expects to ask for contractors' bids in October, it wants assurance by mid-July or early August that the city will be able to furnish its share of the cost, the highway department officials pointed out.

City Engineer George S. Bloomgren made the recommendation that Council authorize the administration to investigate the money-raising problem.

He said it is "a little early" to determine the city's share of the Director May Shorten Suspension For Hayes

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver has scheduled a meeting this afternoon with Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes, indicating he may shorten the year's payless suspension he gave the officer Thursday because he lost his driver's license under the Ohio Financial Responsibility Law.

The director set up the conference Monday after Hayes advised him his operater's permit has been restored by the state. At the time of the suspension, the director told the officer there was a possibility his case would be reopened when his license was returned.

Hayes originally was suspended Feb. 20 by Chief Americo J. Radeschi on the grounds he was "incompetent" to perform his police department duties because the state had lifted his driver's permit as a result of an accident in which his car was involved. The director upheld the suspension at a hearing last week.

Manhunt Of 1934 Recalled

Melvin Purvis, Nemesis Of 'Pretty Boy', Kills Self

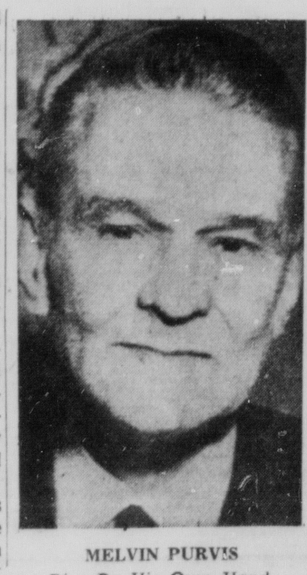

Melvin Purvis, the man who led the FBI team which shot gunman John Dillinger in Chicago and was in on the killing of Charles "Pretty Boyd" Floyd in the Sprucevale Rd. area here in 1934, was found dead at his South Carolina home Monday of a self-inflicted pistol shot.

Purvis, 56, was found dead in the landing of an upstairs hall at his Florence home by his wife, Mrs. Rosanne Purvis, who said she was in the yard when a shot sounded.

The family physician, Dr. Walter Meade, said the famed FBI agent of the 1930's had been depressed and in bad health recently. Coroner William T. Eaddy ruled he died of a self-inflicted wound under the jaw.

Purvis made national headlines in the summer of 1934 when he and his federal aides tracked down

Dramatic Turn In California

Chessman 'Willing To Die' If Death Law Is Abolished

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Caryl Chessman's offer to die in the gas chamber brought a dramatic new element today into California's gathering legislative battle over capital punishment.

The convict-author wrote Gov. Edmund G. Brown he is willing to end his fight for life if the California Legislature will vote to abolish the death penalty for everybody else.

"I offer . . . my life," said the convict who was condemned in 1948 as a perverted sex-kidnaper.

"I give my solemn word before the world that I will never challenge such a law in the courts and I will disavow any attempt by any attorney purporting to act in my behalf."

For almost 12 of his 38 years, Chessman has fought to escape the gas chamber. But now, he told the governor, if his death will ease the way to the abolition of capital punishment, he is willing to die.

He said he had asked himself what he could do to "divorce the ugly, emotion-inflamed image of Caryl Chessman from the grave social issue of capital punishment."

Chessman's 7,000-word letter was delivered to the Capitol Monday night by a highway patrolman. It arrived on the day the Legislature reconvened with strong evidence it would refuse to repeal capital punishment.

Brown signed a 60-day reprieve for the curly-haired, hawk-nosed convict in the pre-dawn hours before his scheduled execution Feb. 18. The governor has come under withering criticism—even talk of impeachment—for tieing his action to proposed rewriting of the death penalty law.

There was no comment from Brown on Chessman's offer. An aide said the letter was released to the press before the governor took it to the executive mansion to read.

Bond Fixed At $5,000 In Embezzlement Case

Alton Charles Fields, 36, of Salem, accused of embezzling $33,600 from the Salem bank where he worked for 14 years, was bound over to the Federal District Court in Cleveland Monday afternoon when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Henry C. Robinson of Youngstown.

Fields waived a preliminary hearing at his arraignment on charges filed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation following his arrest Saturday night.

Father of 4 and a Purple Heart veteran of World War II, Fields was accused of taking the money in the last three years from the Farmers National Bank, where he had been employed 14 years as a loan teller. Admitting the theft, he said he used the money "for normal living expenses," the FBI said.

Bank Robber Hunted

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police searched today for a gunman who escaped with $421 in a holdup at a suburban McKees Rocks branch of the Pittsburgh National Bank.

Snow Double Normal Fall For February

The harried householder, his snow shovel handle well polished and aches in his back, was right—snow last month was nearly double the amount that normally falls in February. But the nasty month wasn't as cold as usual.

Despite the current long cold snap, February was slightly warmer than average, according to Edwin Copeland, who today released his monthly weather summary.

The average temperature last month was 27 degrees compared to the 26.9 degrees normal for February in the Millport observer's 65-year records. In 1958 the February temperature average was 30.7 degrees.

The 15 inches of snow that descended on the area was almost double the normal 8 inches and five times the amount that fell that month of 1958.

Copeland said the wind-blown snowfall of Feb. 19 drifted roads and low areas deeper in one day than the long six-week period of heavy winter did in 1945.

March Arrives Like 'Frozen Lamb'

March, whose weather depends on whether the month comes in like a lion or lamb, arrived more like "frozen lamb"—with temperatures near the zero range.

Millport recorded an official 2 above and Fredericktown had a similar low while Dam 8 reported 12 and the downtown had 13. Tonight's low may hit zero!

Oakland Child Suffers Burns

Clothing Ignited By Water Heater Flame

A 10-year-old Oakland district boy suffered servere burns this morning when his clothing caught fire from the flame of a gas hot water heater in the kitchen at the family home, police reported.

William Ricky Bates, son of Mrs. Jean Bates of Valley Ave., is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with first and second degree burns of the right shoulder, chest and hand.

The boy told Patrolman Floyd K. Heddleston he was sitting beside the hot water heater for extra warmth when his shirt caught on fire from the flame. The boy ran upstairs from the basement kitchen and his mother smothered the flames with a blanket, officers said.

Police were summoned at 7:27 by Mrs. Thomas Bratt, 800 Valley Ave., a neighbor, as the Bates family does not have a telephone. Officer Heddleston went to the Bratt home to pick up the boy and take him to the hospital in a cruiser.

Manhunt Of 1934 Recalled

Melvin Purvis, Nemesis Of 'Pretty Boy', Kills Self

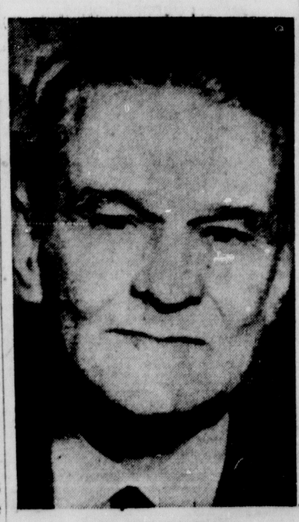

Melvin Purvis, the man who led the FBI team which shot gunman John Dillinger in Chicago and was in on the killing of Charles "Pretty Boyd" Floyd in the Sprucevale Rd. area here in 1934, was found dead at his South Carolina home Monday of a self-inflicted pistol shot.

Purvis, 56, was found dead in the landing of an upstairs hall at his Florence home by his wife, Mrs. Rosanne Purvis, who said she was in the yard when a shot sounded.

The family physician, Dr. Walter Meade, said the famed FBI agent of the 1930's had been depressed and in bad health recently. Coroner William T. Eaddy ruled he died of a self-inflicted wound under the jaw.

Purvis made national headlines in the summer of 1934 when he and his federal aides tracked down

Jury Hears Case On State Award

LISBON — Testimony continued today in Common Pleas Court in the case of B. F. Goodrich Co. of Akron against the Industrial Commission of Ohio and Mrs. Dorothy J. Ervin of Poland.

The company is appealing the judgment given in the death of her husband June 16, 1954, in a traffic crash on the East Palestine-Unity Rd. south of Route 14.

The commission granted the death award to Mrs. Ervin and her son, Gregory Allen, based on her husband's weekly wages but the rubber firm claims he was not on duty when killed.

Mabel Neal, Grace Hane, Herbert Sell, Virginia Leon and Ethel Bolba of East Liverpool; Nevin Halverstadt, Ralph Scattergood, Hilda Blackburn, Delores Perkins and Anna O'Hara of Salem and Lloyd Glazer and Robert Muhleman of Lisbon. Galen Berger of Salem is alternate.

Investigating Fire

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A $15,000 fire Monday at a tavern that was dynamited earlier this winter is being investigated as possible arson. The tavern on U.S. 422 was unoccupied when it caught fire. The building formerly housed the Fez Club, which closed a month ago. Paul Capito, owner, said he had leased the property to Mrs. Pauline Poprik who planned to open a tavern there.

Ohio Marks 157th Birthday Today

Historians say the first Legislature met and organized on March 1, 1803, and that date was used in setting up the centennial celebration of 1903.

When President Eisenhower signed a congressional act on Aug. 7, 1953, officially admitting Ohio to the union, he made it retroactive to March 1, 1803.

In signing that act, the President merely was doing what the Seventh Congress should have done. Either those early congressmen forgot or else got mixed up on how to do it, the Ohio Historical Society says.

But four other dates also have been suggested for Ohio's birthday:

April 30, 1802—The day Congress passed an enabling act permitting the territory to draw up a constitution and set up state government.

Nov. 29, 1802—Date of the signing of that constitution.

Feb. 19, 1803 — When Congress passed another act providing for "the due execution of the laws of the United States within the State of Ohio."

March 3, 1803—Still another congressional act, which assented to changes suggested by the Ohio constitutional convention regarding lands for school purposes. Gov. Salmon P. Chase (1856-1860) intimated this fixed the date of federal recognition.

Jury Sworn In

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—The jury that will try Bill Joe Schaffer on a first-degree murder charge has been sworn in. An alternate juror remains to be selected. Schaffer, 25, is accused of strangling his former school teacher, Mrs. Emma Remey, 75, during a robbery attempt at her Ironton home Feb. 21, 1958.

$15,982 Drive Opened Here By Red Cross

The local Red Cross fund drive for $15,982 got under way officially today, with appointment of chairmen of the various soliciting divisions by James Locke, campaign director.

Two divisions, Special Gifts and Professional, already have begun their rounds. They are headed by Mrs. J. Donald Thompson and Mrs. Norman Birnbaum.

Volunteer workers in the Residential Division will hold a "kick-off" meeting tonight at 7:30 in Mary Patterson Memorial.

The 16 women in the Special Gifts unit are calling on approximately 165 larger contributors. This division, with a quota of $4,000, hopes to complete its canvass within a 10-day period.

Serving with Mrs. Thompson are Mrs. Everson Hall, Mrs. John Koos, Mrs. Winston Porter, Mrs. John M. Roberts, Mrs. Malcolm W. Thompson, Mrs. William Kelly, Mrs. Jason Brookes, Mrs. William Christopher, Mrs. James Nessley Porter Jr., Mrs. John B. McDonald, Mrs. Michael Turk, Mrs. Clair M. Chambers, Mrs. Joseph M. Wells, Mrs. Richard Beatty, Mrs. William D. Ogilvie and Mrs. Robert Bernstorf.

The work of the Professional Division is likewise well under way. An advance letter, explaining the need for increased donations this year, has been mailed to prospective donors by Mrs. Birnbaum, chairman. Sixteen workers in the six units of the division are following up the mailing this week with personal calls, to reach a divisional quota of $1,250.

In the professional division, Miss Lena Palmisano, heads the unit contacting hospital personnel; Mrs. William Horger and Mrs. Fred Banfield are co-captains of the unit contacting local doctors, assisted by Mrs. M. M. Gottlieb, Mrs. William Banfield and Mrs. Richard Bonistalli. Dentists will be solicited by Mrs. J. J. Hoffrichter, Mrs. R. Jay Kinsey and Mrs. John J. Laneve. Osteopaths and chiropractors will be contacted by Mrs. Charles Waggoner. Heading the ministerial unit is the Rev. John Mostoller. Mrs. G. William Brokaw captains the unit soliciting gifts from attorneys. She will be assisted by Mrs. Ben Berman, Mrs. Francis Lang, Mrs. Donald E. Smith and Mrs. Richard Clark.

Assistant Chairmen W. Edward Adkins and William A. Black joined Chairman Locke in urging the "fullest public participation" in the campaign and warned of the "folly in attempting to place a price tag on Red Cross services", saying, "When we are approached by the Red Cross for support, let's think of values, not price tags! As a simple illustration of what we mean, let's suppose a young man takes first aid training at our chapter and let's estimate the cost of training this young man at $10. A few weeks later, he finds himself at the scene of an accident. He takes emergency measures that result in the saving of two lives. His training cost $10. But can we value those two lives at $5 each? So it is with countless services performed regularly by Red Cross chapters everywhere.

"When you are approached by a Red Cross volunteer, keep these services in mind — think of values — not price tags! Remember the 1960 campaign slogan — Good things happen when you give."

Defense Raps Maid's Story In Finch Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The defense in a slashing summation has listed a dozen "discrepancies" in a housemaid's stories of the night socialite Barbara Jean Finch was slain.

But the lawyer called 19-year-old Marie Anne Lidholm a "loving, wholesome girl" and told the jury: "I do believe she was trying to tell the truth."

The Swedish maid was a key state's witness in the murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, handsome surgeon, and Carole Tregoff, 23, his shapely mistress and former receptionist.

Marie Anne listened wide-eyed among the spectators Monday as Finch's smooth, gray defender, Grant B. Cooper, dissected her testimony.

Cooper said his summation to the jury of seven women and five men probably would continue through all of today and on into Wednesday.

The attorney said many of the "discrepancies" seemed minor but that one was critically important.

Miss Lidholm testified that Mrs. Finch got into her car from the right-hand door when the doctor ordered her into the car moments before her gunshot death on the lawn of the Finch estate late last July 18.

Finch said she entered through the left-hand door. His version explained how bloodstains got on the driver's side of the seat. He said Mrs. Finch was bleeding from a head wound he inflicted in subduing her in a furious struggle for a gun.

However, Cooper said, Marie Anne admitted on cross-examination that she had told a sheriff's investigator that Mrs. Finch entered on the left-hand side and the investigator told her she had to be mistaken. Cooper said she changed her story after that.

High-Altitude Flights Plan Hit By Reds

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Embassy in East Berlin said today resumption of high-altitude flights to Berlin by Western Big Three planes would be violating past practices.

But an Embassy spokesman declined to say whether Soviet fighter planes would be sent up against U. S., British or French planes flying above the 10,000-foot ceiling imposed by the Soviet Union on isolated Berlin's air corridors.

Soviet fighter planes buzzed but did not attack U. S. supply planes last April, when they defied the ceiling rule. None of the Big Three recognizes the ceiling.

The United States halted the high altitude flights at the prompting of the British, who feared a serious incident. A report from Washington Monday said the Allies are notifying Moscow of their intention to resume the high altitude flights.

"If we get something concrete in the form of a note," the Soviet spokesman said, "then we can talk about it. Naturally we would have to talk with our allies, especially the GDR (Communist East Germany) about it."

He indicated that any high-altitude flights would be considered a violation of East Germany's air space.

$15,982 Drive Opened Here By Red Cross

The local Red Cross fund drive for $15,982 got under way officially today, with appointment of chairmen of the various soliciting divisions by James Locke, campaign director.

Two divisions, Special Gifts and Professional, already have begun their rounds. They are headed by Mrs. J. Donald Thompson and Mrs. Norman Birnbaum.

Volunteer workers in the Residential Division will hold a "kick-off" meeting tonight at 7:30 in Mary Patterson Memorial.

The 16 women in the Special Gifts unit are calling on approximately 165 larger contributors. This division, with a quota of $4,000, hopes to complete its canvass within a 10-day period.

Serving with Mrs. Thompson are Mrs. Everson Hall, Mrs. John Koos, Mrs. Winston Porter, Mrs. John M. Roberts, Mrs. Malcolm W. Thompson, Mrs. William Kelly, Mrs. Jason Brookes, Mrs. William Christopher, Mrs. James Nessley Porter Jr., Mrs. John B. McDonald, Mrs. Michael Turk, Mrs. Clair M. Chambers, Mrs. Joseph M. Wells, Mrs. Richard Beatty, Mrs. William D. Ogilvie and Mrs. Robert Bernstorf.

The work of the Professional Division is likewise well under way. An advance letter, explaining the need for increased donations this year, has been mailed to prospective donors by Mrs. Birnbaum, chairman. Sixteen workers in the six units of the division are following up the mailing this week with personal calls, to reach a divisional quota of $1,250.

In the professional division, Miss Lena Palmisano, heads the unit contacting hospital personnel; Mrs. William Horger and Mrs. Fred Banfield are co-captains of the unit contacting local doctors, assisted by Mrs. M. M. Gottlieb, Mrs. William Banfield and Mrs. Richard Bonistalli. Dentists will be solicited by Mrs. J. J. Hoffrichter, Mrs. R. Jay Kinsey and Mrs. John J. Laneve. Osteopaths and chiropractors will be contacted by Mrs. Charles Waggoner. Heading the ministerial unit is the Rev. John Mostoller. Mrs. G. William Brokaw captains the unit soliciting gifts from attorneys. She will be assisted by Mrs. Ben Berman, Mrs. Francis Lang, Mrs. Donald E. Smith and Mrs. Richard Clark.

Assistant Chairmen W. Edward Adkins and William A. Black joined Chairman Locke in urging the "fullest public participation" in the campaign and warned of the "folly in attempting to place a price tag on Red Cross services", saying, "When we are approached by the Red Cross for support, let's think of values, not price tags! As a simple illustration of what we mean, let's suppose a young man takes first aid training at our chapter and let's estimate the cost of training this young man at $10. A few weeks later, he finds himself at the scene of an accident. He takes emergency measures that result in the saving of two lives. His training cost $10. But can we value those two lives at $5 each? So it is with countless services performed regularly by Red Cross chapters everywhere.

"When you are approached by a Red Cross volunteer, keep these services in mind — think of values — not price tags! Remember the 1960 campaign slogan — Good things happen when you give."

How Much Is It Worth To You?

Unless you have received direct help from the Red Cross, it's likely you never have tried to put a dollar-and-cents price tag on what an annual contribution during the fund campaign means to you and your family.

How much is it worth to a family made homeless by disaster to have a warm place to sleep and something to eat and to know they can get help in repairing or replacing their damaged home, their destroyed furniture?

Some $1,400 in Red Cross aid went to district families last year under such circumstances.

How much is it worth to a family whose loved one's life was saved by someone trained to give artificial respiration and first aid?

How much is it worth to the family of a serviceman, plagued with problems in his absence, to be able to call on someone for friendly advice or financial assistance if it's needed?

A total of 277 active service, veteran and civilian cases were served one or more times last year by the local Red Cross office, with $1,205 provided in financial assistance.

How much is it worth to the hundreds of parents whose children have been taught water safety and swimming by instructors trained in life-saving techniques?

Nearly 300 area youngsters received this Red Cross training last summer, with the local chapter spending approximately $650 to provide first aid and water safety training classes.

Finally, how much is it worth to you to know that these and many other neighborly acts, performed every year for millions of Americans, will be performed for you and your family, if there is need?

If the answers to the above questions could be reckoned in dollars and cents, they would total many times the $15,982 the Red Cross is seeking in its local fund appeal.

The above list points out just a few of the many good things that happen when you give. And far from the least is the deep personal satisfaction you will feel in your heart.

Anything For A Good Showing

One of the weirdest rackets of our times has been reveald by the district attorney of New York County — ghost-writing agencies that turn out work for college and university students.

The products of the agencies range from ordinary term papers all the way to a thesis for a doctorate. Service often is customized, to throw off suspicion. If a C student buys a paper, for example, it will be suitable for a student of his previous attainment.

This sophisticated form of cheating is an outgrowth, of course, of the grading system that puts a premium on the mark made in a course, instead of putting the premium on the knowledge obtained by taking the course.

The only solution in sight — and not in very plain sight — is the greater use of examinations similar to the oral examinations given candidates for high degrees, in which students would be questioned first-hand about their knowledge in face-to-face interviews before being given credit for completed work.

This would be physically impossible in educational institutions that graduate thousands of students each year. But something like it may have to be done eventually to put a stop to the cheating that flourishes under existing systems of putting the premium on marks instead of knowledge.

More and more, as good jobs are reserved for the graduates of high schools and colleges, students will be tempted to qualify themselves for consideration at any price. The premium on cheating will go higher. Some way will have to be found to separate the presumptively educated from the actually educated, to protect the public.

No one wants to be forced to wonder if a brain surgeon who is about to start a tricky cranial operation may have cheated his way through some sticky educational passage in medical school.

Dog's Best Friend

A dog warden has what could be considered a "thankless" job. Too often, he's criticized if he does and criticized if he doesn't.

A competent dog warden, however, can perform a service of great value to a community. He's actually a friend, not an enemy, of the strays who may come under his jurisdiction if circumstances are taken into consideration.

Robert J. Croyle, who assumed the part-time post here today following his appointment by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, has indicated he intends to give the position the conscientious effort it demands.

He has expressed a desire to assist dog owners in whatever way he can and create good will rather than animosity when duty calls. He deserves the cooperation of all in assuming a job that few would care to tackle.

Three Big Ones For The Baron

Things went better in the Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley than the calamity howlers wanted to think they could go. The games are being called a success by people who are in a position to know what they are talking about.

In fact, some of the people in the know seem disposed to lead three big cheers for Baron Pierre de Coubertin, who revived the ancient Olympic Games in the modern version. Not everything he dreamed about in 1894 has come true, but some things have come true that never could have happened if someone hadn't dared to dream.

There are athletes of different nationalities who like each other and help each other. It is possible for an amateur athlete to compete against the best athletes in his specialty without becoming a professional. It is possible for many men and women who have nationalism drummed into them from birth to do something more tangible about the brotherhood of man than subscribe to pious resolutions of intent; they can prove brotherhood is possible by competing as friends.

True, there are "amateur" athletes who apparently do nothing else for a living, and that is contrary to the Olympic spirit. There are people who insist on keeping score in even Olympic Games as it were an international rivalry instead of a personal rivalry between competitors from different nations. And now that television has proved that Olympic competition is full of commercial possibilities, it is going to be a headache to separate the athletics from the spielers and sponsors.

But a great debt of gratitude is owing to the French baron who said a better world can be brought about only by better individuals and better individuals can be developed best by the give and take of "fierce competition." The gentleman had a great dream, even when it borders on being a nightmare.

A Pleasant Note

East Liverpool High School always has been blessed with better than average musicians. Its bands and orchestras have ranked high in district and state competition over the years.

Maintaining the standard, the present orchestra received a "superior" rating in a state contest Saturday afternoon at Lorain High School. It was the only one of five high school groups in its division so honored.

The bronze plaque that has been added to the trophy room is a credit to director Donald C. Allen and to the individual students who have worked so hard and so long to perfect their orchestrations.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Heavyweight championship fight seems fixed for June. Fighters' names have been pretty widely forgotten and it may be necessary to bill it as a return battle between the winning attorneys and the losers.

We think all the lawyers, process servers and state and federal officers involved should be introduced from the ring and allowed to take a bow.

The big qustion is what the strain has done to Patterson and Johannson.

Ingo has been weakened by numerous trans-Atlantic journeys and TV engagements. Patterson has lost weight studying Blackstone and wondering who his manager is.

It is impossible to skip rope properly with a brief case in one hand, or to punch the bag unless the bag has legal papers attached.

It could be the best heavyweight fight in the history of court proceedings, suspensions and antitrust suits. The first 10 rows should be reserved for the American Bar Association, FBI, district attorneys and boxing commissioners.

Roy Cohn is one of top promoters and, as a result of habits contracted during McCarthy-Army hearings he may appear in the ring and ask both fighters: "Are you both ready to come out fighting? Answer yes or no."

This could bring reply from fighters: "We refuse to answer on the ground we are as confused as everybody else."

Bonesetters all over the U.S. have been busy as result of Squaw Valley ski events. Champs made it look so easy that kid and adult watchers on TV rushed out for skis and tried jumping through space, not even stopping to see if there was any SNOW!

A couple of Squaw Valley jumpers looked fairly scared and we fancied we heard one say, as he took off from the mountain top, "This is a VALLEY!"

Castro has ordered that all American products must be packaged or repackaged in Cuba. Repackaging the standardized genuine large sized happy tourist will be pretty tough.

In rash of books on Gen. Grant few incidents are more flabbergasting than the fact the greatest Civil War general, famed for fast operations, slugging methods and all-out pursuits went to Gen. McClellan's office early in war to offer his services in any capacity and couldn't even get an audience! McClellan was such a cautious, procrastinating leader that he seldom followed up a victory and was finally removed. Grant wound up as winner of the war and President of U.S.

There Was A Fable About A Lion And Lamb

Electronics Help Run Railroads

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

I've been working on the railroads' story — and the story is that the railroads can pretty much work all by themselves. They've put brains on the trains. I've been with freight cars which can steer themselves. I have been told of "The Thing" which tastes oil in an engine crankcase and tells you that it may soon break down. I've learned that passenger and freight cars can make themselves up into trains and get themselves onto a track for a special destination.

Victor Riesel

Stretches of electrified tracks have been described to me, tracks on which trains are controlled from a central push - button console scores of miles away.

On these stretches the slightest touch of a button slows a train, speeds another, puts a third on a siding and sends a fourth highballing around it as a crack special.

THEY'VE TOLD me of radar which weighs freight cars and of electronic brains which figure it's going to snow so the time has come to turn on the heat and melt the stuff before it ties up the lines.

Take the case of the notorious hotbox. This is a device which holds the bearings of a freight car axle. If there isn't enough oil, the metal rolls on metal. The bearings begin to overheat because of friction. They start melting or cracking. Hotboxes are the greatest single cause of derailments. The old-fashioned way is to test them by hand, in effect.

Now there is a little electronic gimmick set near the tracks. As the trains speed by, it automatically takes the temperature of the axle case or axle housing, or journal box, as we experienced railroaders say.

If the little brain discovers an overheated box — above a safe temperature — it flashes a warning signal to the dispatcher at the next point. A tape tells him exactly which axle on what side of what car in which train is endangering the speeding express. No one has to go clanging along.

Then there is something called the Car-Fax.

THERE'S ONE operating here on the Chicago & North Western Ry. They move a lot of freight. The Car-Fax centers upon a new electronic brain — the transceiver. It reports where every one of the line's 50,000 cars are at any moment and whether it is empty or loaded, with what and where it is going.

As described to me, "It provides the railroad supervision with current information on thousands of freight cars as well as every train movement as it occurs on main and branch lines at every freight yard, station and interchange point."

This covers 9,300 miles of tracks in eight Midwestern states.

There are automatic freight yards. An electronic brain — the analog computer — knows in advance the destination of each freight car as it enters the yard. This tape has other memoranda. An operator plays it. The car then responds to the distant brain, which has weighed it and knows just how fast it will roll on the track.

THE CAR IS MOVED along by the brain through a series of wheel squeezers. These keep the car at the right speed so it can work itself over to the proper track and couple itself onto the train without damaging the freight.

There's an electronic track system running from Toledo, O., to nearby Elkhart, Ind. The dispatcher in Toledo sits at a small control console in the Union Station there.

By pushing buttons he can move trains from one high speed track to another. He can move a faster express around a slower freight and he can move trains in either direction on the same track at high speeds, not at the same time, of course.

This run is 133 miles long. There are other stretches. Some day the land will be covered by them.

These are but a few of the electronic brains automatically handling our great railraods. They save money, which is what the lines need to survive.

They also cut down inexorably the number of jobs. This is what the unions are fighting now.

Wild And Woolly

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Senate's around - the - clock fight over civil rights is headed for organized chaos before it's finished. This looks like the wolliest civil rights fight in recent years.

The Senate leaders — Lyndon Johnson of Texas for the Democrats and Everett Dirksen of Illinois for the Republicans — have agreed on around-the-clock sessions endlessly to smash the Southern Democrats' fight against any civil rights measure.

The idea is to make them shut up finally through exhaustion. This is disorderly enough. But the usual way of doing Senate business has also been abandoned, leaving the door open for a free-for-all.

This is the orderly way:

Bills on a certain issue, like civil rights, after being introduced in the Senate are sent to the appropriate committee whose members and staff examine the bill for good, and bad parts, workable and unworkable parts, and gimmicks.

Hearings are held so both sides can speak their piece. Then the committee senators agree on one bill, or put together a combination of bills, and send the finished product to the full Senate for action, with a report and explanation.

On the floor, of course, changes can be made in the committee-approved bill through amendments offered on the floor. But by this time the senators have, or should have, a pretty good idea of what they're voting on.

But this year civil rights bills have been stymied in both House and Senate committees which are headed by Southerners. So Johnson and Dirksen decided to go ahead and try to get some kind of civil rights bill passed without committee approval.

The bill supposed to get first consideration was proposed by the Eisenhower administration. First, it was offered in bits and pieces last year. This year Dirksen put all the pieces together and offered them in one bill.

But there probably have been more than 200 civil rights bills, with all kinds of proposals, introduced this year, not one of which got through a committee.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Southern Democrats, said Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) has by himself introduced at least 57 civil rights bills.

When the filibuster is broken, if it is, then the Senate will vote on the administration bill. But any senator can offer other bills as amendments to this one. And the Southerners, to water down the Northern amendments, or to foul them up, no doubt will offer more amendments of their own.

Since none of these proposals has cleared a committee, there is a good chance the Senate will often have only a vague idea of what it's voting for or against. Does that sound strange? It shouldn't.

In 1957, when the Senate passed the first civil rights bill in this century, neither the Southern opponents of it nor its Northern advocates knew precisely what the bill would do, although they had had months to examine it.

Russell, the Southern captain that year, suddenly announced he had discovered a "cunning" gimmick in the bill: It would permit the use of federal troops to back up one section of the bill. It seemed strangely late to be discovering that.

It was. Russell hadn't discovered it. Instead, a lawyer for the Senate Judiciary Committee discovered this provision and called it to Russell's attention.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), leader of the fight for a civil rights bill, expressed astonishment at Russell's disclosure. What had happened? Neither the Southerners nor the Northerners had really done their homework on the bill at all.

Laws Of Honesty

By David Lawrence

Report Studies 'Conflict Of Interests'

Can honesty be legislated? This is the challenging question that comes to the fore when a report such as has just been presented to Congress endeavors to deal with the problem of so-called "conflict of interest."

David Lawrence

A committee of eminent lawyers from The Association of the Bar of the City of New York has completed a two-year study which recommends certain changes in existing laws so as to prevent employes of the government from being improperly influenced in their public duties through gifts, through the retention of income from previous business connections, through stock ownership in such companies or otherwise.

"We need a long-run national policy," says the report, "which neither sacrifices governmental integrity for opportunism nor drowns practical staffing needs in moralism.

"We need a careful regulatory scheme that effectively restrains official conflicts of interest without generating pernicious side effects on recruitment. The basic conclusion of the committee is that such a scheme can be worked out."

WITH ALL DUE RESPECT to the fine men who prepared this report, the observation can be made that it doesn't go to the root of the problem.

Honesty cannot be legislated any more than efficiency can be defined in a statute. Even if all the proposals of the bar association committee were adopted, this would not reach the real difficulty —the dishonest mind.

Also, what shall be said about those members of Congress who retain a connection with their former law firms, even though they are careful not to accept any income from cases involving the government?

Is the continuance of their names on the law firm's stationery an inducement to prospective clients?

Are the former associates of these members of Congress to be deprived of a chance to do any government business or to contact their duly-elected representative in Congress just because he used to work with them?

What about the practice of many members of Congress who accept fees for speeches before labor-union or trade-association conventions?

IS A GIFT at Christmas or at any other time a sort of bribe?

Must the recipient, if he is in public office, assume that the purpose of the gift is to influence him improperly? If so, then what about gifts made to individuals before they entered the government service? Are the donors forever to be pre-empted from contacting on business matters their friends of former years?

There was, for instance, the case of Sherman Adams. No proof ever was adduced that the gifts he received from a personal friend of long standing influenced him to do anything that he couldn't have done with propriety for any other constituent or for any other citizen with similar cases pending before government agencies.

Yet Mr. Adams was crucified in the court of public opinion and his career irreparably damaged by something that is called "guilt by association" when the same sort of suspicion happens to fall upon a Communist sympathizer.

The problem is not new. It is one that is encountered every day by public servants in government from the highest federal office down to the smallest post in county or city government.

It comes up constantly on the bench.

A CONSCIENTIOUS judge who dons his robes and listens to the arguments of both sides in a courtroom deliberately puts out of his mind any background of friendship or acquaintance with the litigants. If he doesn't and commits this or that improper act, he can be impeached.

To try to write laws prohibiting government officials from accepting gifts in the wrong approach. Every department head already has the right to issue rules and regulations that draw attention to the risks inherent in the acceptance of gifts or favors from persons who do business with the government.

If such rules are violated, the employe can be dismissed and, if the government has been defrauded, he can be prosecuted.

There is no need for a complex set of laws when, after all is said and done, the remedy requires only a simple injunction demanding honesty and integrity from every person who serves the government.

Spring Training

By Truman Twill

There's no secret about baseball spring training. The purpose is publicity for baseball. The muscle conditioning and the polishing of timing are byproducts, as is the inspection of the young players hoping to land a berth in the major leagues.

Put these things together and add a bevy of baseball writers and photographers and you have a buildup for the national game that has been one of the notable things about its evolution. The fact is, baseball is not the nation's most popular game. It is not played or watched by as many people as basketball, for example, or football.

Many schools do not support baseball, or if they do baseball is a spring sport, like track and field. But until the recent rise of professional football, no other sport attracted the kind of attention that is given baseball each year, starting in the late winter when the players go to training camps.

That is when Americans become baseball-minded again, thanks to the game's reappearance on the sports pages and thanks to the wistful mood of winter-bound stay-at-homes who can smell the acrid odor of a freshly oiled baseball glove and feel the warmth of the sunshine when they read the stories from the training camps.

Every time it happens again, it stirs the fond hope that some day all the rest of us may share this wonderful experience of going to spring training camp and getting a buildup.

Alonzo R. Tack, trying out this year for head shipping clerk with the Consolidated Appliance Corp., has an inside track, according to observers who have been watching him work out in Consolidated's training camp at Swiss-on-Rye. Tack, a graduate of the service department with three years' experience in the high minors, moves well in both directions and is showing his boss that level swing which can keep the orders moving.

Junior X. Ecutive, eyeing a place in the starting lineup for the new holding corporation that will take up a franchise in the All-American Conference in 1960, is making old timers' eyes pop here at Slithering Springs with his never-say-die determination. Ecutive brought to camp a reputation for working the corners and having a mental catalog of the weaknesses of every competitor who ever faced him in the bushes. He is given a good chance to stay with the mother company if he can protect himself against injury. He was out most of last season after butting his head against a stone wall with the Hard Knocks outfit in the Triple A organization.

Wun Long-see, first Chinese-American to be given a trial with the Chicago Apple Knockers, was caught today by your inquiring reporter after a brisk workout with his first stock manipulation. Wun was grinning from ear to ear. "I had been told by noble ancestors that these Wall Street Throat-Cutters were tough babies," he chortled. "But before they got out their knives, I had slit their throats from ear to ear with a net of $337,000 after taxes. Not bad for a rice-snapper who didn't know a proxy from a loss carryover three years ago, huh?"

Lem Fumadiddle, grandaddy of the old pros, is seen here relaxing in a sandwich shop after the afternoon workout. Lem has been around a long time. He never made it big, but he played to the right and the left of many cover men on Time Magazine in his day. "I figure I have two more good years in me," he confided, over a glass of skim milk. "My problem always has been the lardage or more weight than my constitution could stand, but this spring I have that licked. I can help this outfit with my savvy, even if I have lost a little in the legs. These upstarts need a codger like me to steady them down and tell them where the bodies are buried. I'm looking forward to a good season."

Give a fellow like old Lem the advantage of a little buildup and who knows? He might turn into a late-blooming attraction.

Finally, how much is it worth to you to know that these and many other neighborly acts, performed every year for millions of Americans, will be performed for you and your family, if there is need?

If the answers to the above questions could be reckoned in dollars and cents, they would total many times the $15,982 the Red Cross is seeking in its local fund appeal.

The above list points out just a few of the many good things that happen when you give. And far from the least is the deep personal satisfaction you will feel in your heart.

Anything For A Good Showing

One of the weirdest rackets of our times has been reveald by the district attorney of New York County — ghost-writing agencies that turn out work for college and univerasity students.

The products of the agencies range from ordinary term papers all the way to a thesis for a doctorate. Service often is customized, to throw off suspicion. If a C student buys a paper, for example, it will be suitable for a student of his previous attainment.

This sophisticated form of cheating is an outgrowth, of course, of the grading system that puts a premium on the mark made in a course, instead of putting the premium on the knowledge obtained by taking the course.

The only solution in sight — and not in very plain sight — is the greater use of examinations similar to the oral examinations given candidates for high degrees, in which students would be questioned first-hand about their knowledge in face-to-face interviews before being given credit for completed work.

This would be physically impossible in educational institutions that graduate thousands of students each year. But something like it may have to be done eventually to put a stop to the cheating that flourishes under existing systems of putting the premium on marks instead of knowledge.

More and more, as good jobs are reserved for the graduates of high schools and colleges, students will be tempted to qualify themselves for consideration at any price. The premium on cheating will go higher. Some way will have to be found to separate the presumptively educated from the actually educated, to protect the public.

No one wants to be forced to wonder if a brain surgeon who is about to start a tricky cranial operation may have cheated his way through some sticky educational passage in medical school.

Dog's Best Friend

A dog warden has what could be considered a "thankless" job. Too often, he's criticized if he does and criticized if he doesn't.

A competent dog warden, however, can perform a service of great value to a community. He's actually a friend, not an enemy, of the strays who may come under his jurisdiction if circumstances are taken into consideration.

Robert J. Croyle, who assumed the part-time post here today following his appointment by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, has indicated he intends to give the position the conscientious effort it demands.

He has expressed a desire to assist dog owners in whatever way he can and create good will rather than animosity when duty calls. He deserves the cooperation of all in assuming a job that few would care to tackle.

Three Big Ones For The Baron

Things went better in the Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley than the calamity howlers wanted to think they could go. The games are being called a success by people who are in a position to know what they are talking about.

In fact, some of the people in the know seem disposed to lead three big cheers for Baron Pierre de Coubertin, who revived the ancient Olympic Games in the modern version. Not everything he dreamed about in 1894 has come true, but some things have come true that never could have happened if someone hadn't dared to dream.

There are athletes of different nationalities who like each other and help each other. It is possible for an amateur athlete to compete against the best athletes in his specialty without becoming a professional. It is possible for many men and women who have nationalism drummed into them from birth to do something more tangible about the brotherhood of man than subscribe to pious resolutions of intent; they can prove brotherhood is possible by competing as friends.

True, there are "amateur" athletes who apparently do nothing else for a living, and that is contrary to the Olympic spirit. There are people who insist on keeping score in even Olympic Games as it were an international rivalry instead of a personal rivalry between competitors from different nations. And now that television has proved that Olympic competition is full of commercial possibilities, it is going to be a headache to separate the athletics from the spielers and sponsors.

But a great debt of gratitude is owing to the French baron who said a better world can be brought about only by better individuals and better individuals can be developed best by the give and take of "fierce competition." The gentleman had a great dream, even when it borders on being a nightmare.

A Pleasant Note

East Liverpool High School always has been blessed with better than average musicians. Its bands and orchestras have ranked high in district and state competition over the years.

Maintaining the standard, the present orchestra received a "superior" rating in a state contest Saturday afternoon at Lorain High School. It was the only one of five high school groups in its division so honored.

The bronze plaque that has been added to the trophy room is a credit to director Donald C. Allen and to the individual students who have worked so hard and so long to perfect their orchestrations.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Heavyweight championship fight seems fixed for June. Fighters' names have been pretty widely forgotten and it may be necessary to bill it as a return battle between the winning attorneys and the losers.

We think all the lawyers, process servers and state and federal officers involved should be introduced from the ring and allowed to take a bow.

The big qustion is what the strain has done to Patterson and Johannson.

Ingo has been weakened by numerous trans-Atlantic journeys and TV engagements. Patterson has lost weight studying Blackstone and wondering who his manager is.

It is impossible to skip rope properly with a brief case in one hand, or to punch the bag unless the bag has legal papers attached.

It could be the best heavyweight fight in the history of court proceedings, suspensions and antitrust suits. The first 10 rows should be reserved for the American Bar Association, FBI, district attorneys and boxing commissioners.

Roy Cohn is one of top promoters and, as a result of habits contracted during McCarthy-Army hearings he may appear in the ring and ask both fighters: "Are you both ready to come out fighting? Answer yes or no."

This could bring reply from fighters: "We refuse to answer on the ground we are as confused as everybody else."

Bonesetters all over the U.S. have been busy as result of Squaw Valley ski events. Champs made it look so easy that kid and adult watchers on TV rushed out for skis and tried jumping through space, not even stopping to see if there was any SNOW!

A couple of Squaw Valley jumpers looked fairly scared and we fancied we heard one say, as he took off from the mountain top, "This is a VALLEY!"

In rash of books on Gen. Grant few incidents are more flabbergasting than the fact the greatest Civil War general, famed for fast operations, slugging methods and all-out pursuits went to Gen. McClellan's office early in war to offer his services in any capacity and couldn't even get an audience! McClellan was such a cautious, procrastinating leader that he seldom followed up a victory and was finally removed. Grant wound up as winner of the war and President of U.S.

There Was A Fable About A Lion And Lamb

Electronics Help Run Railroads

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

I've been working on the railroads' story — and the story is that the railroads can pretty much work all by themselves. They've put brains on the trains. I've been with freight cars which can steer themselves. I have been told of "The Thing" which tastes oil in an engine crankcase and tells you that it may soon break down. I've learned that passenger and freight cars can make themselves up into trains and get themselves onto a track for a special destination.

Victor Riesel

Stretches of electrified tracks have been described to me, tracks on which trains are controlled from a central push - button console scores of miles away.

On these stretches the slightest touch of a button slows a train, speeds another, puts a third on a siding and sends a fourth highballing around it as a crack special.

THEY'VE TOLD me of radar which weighs freight cars and of electronic brains which figure it's going to snow so the time has come to turn on the heat and melt the stuff before it ties up the lines.

Take the case of the notorious hotbox. This is a device which holds the bearings of a freight car axle. If there isn't enough oil, the metal rolls on metal. The bearings begin to overheat because of friction. They start melting or cracking. Hotboxes are the greatest single cause of derailments. The old-fashioned way is to test them by hand, in effect.

Now there is a little electronic gimmick set near the tracks. As the trains speed by, it automatically takes the temperature of the axle case or axle housing, or journal box, as we experienced railroaders say.

If the little brain discovers an overheated box — above a safe temperature — it flashes a warning signal to the dispatcher at the next point. A tape tells him exactly which axle on what side of what car in which train is endangering the speeding express. No one has to go clanging along.

Then there is something called the Car-Fax.

THERE'S ONE operating here on the Chicago & North Western Ry. They move a lot of freight. The Car-Fax centers upon a new electronic brain — the transceiver. It reports where every one of the line's 50,000 cars are at any moment and whether it is empty or loaded, with what and where it is going.

As described to me, "It provides the railroad supervision with current information on thousands of freight cars as well as every train movement as it occurs on main and branch lines at every freight yard, station and interchange point."

This covers 9,300 miles of tracks in eight Midwestern states.

There are automatic freight yards. An electronic brain — the analog computer — knows in advance the destination of each freight car as it enters the yard. This tape has other memoranda. An operator plays it. The car then responds to the distant brain, which has weighed it and knows just how fast it will roll on the track.

THE CAR IS MOVED along by the brain through a series of wheel squeezers. These keep the car at the right speed so it can work itself over to the proper track and couple itself onto the train without damaging the freight.

There's an electronic track system running from Toledo, O., to nearby Elkhart, Ind. The dispatcher in Toledo sits at a small control console in the Union Station there.

By pushing buttons he can move trains from one high speed track to another. He can move a faster express around a slower freight and he can move trains in either direction on the same track at high speeds, not at the same time, of course.

This run is 133 miles long. There are other stretches. Some day the land will be covered by them.

These are but a few of the electronic brains automatically handling our great railraods. They save money, which is what the lines need to survive.

They also cut down inexorably the number of jobs. This is what the unions are fighting now.

Wild And Woolly

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Senate's around - the - clock fight over civil rights is headed for organized chaos before it's finished. This looks like the wolliest civil rights fight in recent years.

The Senate leaders — Lyndon Johnson of Texas for the Democrats and Everett Dirksen of Illinois for the Republicans — have agreed on around-the-clock sessions endlessly to smash the Southern Democrats' fight against any civil rights measure.

The idea is to make them shut up finally through exhaustion. This is disorderly enough. But the usual way of doing Senate business has also been abandoned, leaving the door open for a free-for-all.

This is the orderly way:

Bills on a certain issue, like civil rights, after being introduced in the Senate are sent to the appropriate committee whose members and staff examine the bill for good, and bad parts, workable and unworkable parts, and gimmicks.

Hearings are held so both sides can speak their piece. Then the committee senators agree on one bill, or put together a combination of bills, and send the finished product to the full Senate for action, with a report and explanation.

On the floor, of course, changes can be made in the committee-approved bill through amendments offered on the floor. But by this time the senators have, or should have, a pretty good idea of what they're voting on.

But this year civil rights bills have been stymied in both House and Senate committees which are headed by Southerners. So Johnson and Dirksen decided to go ahead and try to get some kind of civil rights bill passed without committee approval.

The bill supposed to get first consideration was proposed by the Eisenhower administration. First, it was offered in bits and pieces last year. This year Dirksen put all the pieces together and offered them in one bill.

But there probably have been more than 200 civil rights bills, with all kinds of proposals, introduced this year, not one of which got through a committee.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Southern Democrats, said Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) has by himself introduced at least 57 civil rights bills.

When the filibuster is broken, if it is, then the Senate will vote on the administration bill. But any senator can offer other bills as amendments to this one. And the Southerners, to water down the Northern amendments, or to foul them up, no doubt will offer more amendments of their own.

Since none of these proposals has cleared a committee, there is a good chance the Senate will often have only a vague idea of what it's voting for or against. Does that sound strange? It shouldn't.

In 1957, when the Senate passed the first civil rights bill in this century, neither the Southern opponents of it nor its Northern advocates knew precisely what the bill would do, although they had had months to examine it.

Russell, the Southern captain that year, suddenly announced he had discovered a "cunning" gimmick in the bill: It would permit the use of federal troops to back up one section of the bill. It seemed strangely late to be discovering that.

It was. Russell hadn't discovered it. Instead, a lawyer for the Senate Judiciary Committee discovered this provision and called it to Russell's attention.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), leader of the fight for a civil rights bill, expressed astonishment at Russell's disclosure. What had happened? Neither the Southerners nor the Northerners had really done their homework on the bill at all.

Laws Of Honesty

By David Lawrence

Report Studies 'Conflict Of Interests'

Can honesty be legislated? This is the challenging question that comes to the fore when a report such as has just been presented to Congress endeavors to deal with the problem of so-called "conflict of interest."

David Lawrence

A committee of eminent lawyers from The Association of the Bar of the City of New York has completed a two-year study which recommends certain changes in existing laws so as to prevent employes of the government from being improperly influenced in their public duties through gifts, through the retention of income from previous business connections, through stock ownership in such companies or otherwise.

"We need a long-run national policy," says the report, "which neither sacrifices governmental integrity for opportunism nor drowns practical staffing needs in moralism.

"We need a careful regulatory scheme that effectively restrains official conflicts of interest without generating pernicious side effects on recruitment. The basic conclusion of the committee is that such a scheme can be worked out."

WITH ALL DUE RESPECT to the fine men who prepared this report, the observation can be made that it doesn't go to the root of the problem.

Honesty cannot be legislated any more than efficiency can be defined in a statute. Even if all the proposals of the bar association committee were adopted, this would not reach the real difficulty —the dishonest mind.

Also, what shall be said about those members of Congress who retain a connection with their former law firms, even though they are careful not to accept any income from cases involving the government?

Is the continuance of their names on the law firm's stationery an inducement to prospective clients?

Are the former associates of these members of Congress to be deprived of a chance to do any government business or to contact their duly-elected representative in Congress just because he used to work with them?

What about the practice of many members of Congress who accept fees for speeches before labor-union or trade-association conventions?

IS A GIFT at Christmas or at any other time a sort of bribe? Must the recipient, if he is in public office, assume that the purpose of the gift is to influence him improperly? If so, then what about gifts made to individuals before they entered the government service? Are the donors forever to be pre-empted from contacting on business matters their friends of former years?

There was, for instance, the case of Sherman Adams. No proof ever was adduced that the gifts he received from a personal friend of long standing influenced him to do anything that he couldn't have done with propriety for any other constituent or for any other citizen with similar cases pending before government agencies.

Yet Mr. Adams was crucified in the court of public opinion and his career irreparably damaged by something that is called "guilt by association" when the same sort of suspicion happens to fall upon a Communist sympathizer.

The problem is not new. It is one that is encountered every day by public servants in government from the highest federal office down to the smallest post in county or city government.

It comes up constantly on the bench.

A CONSCIENTIOUS judge who dons his robes and listens to the arguments of both sides in a courtroom deliberately puts out of his mind any background of friendship or acquaintance with the litigants. If he doesn't and commits this or that improper act, he can be impeached.

An administrative official can always be removed for dishonesty or inefficiency.

To try to write laws prohibiting government officials from accepting gifts in the wrong approach. Every department head already has the right to issue rules and regulations that draw attention to the risks inherent in the acceptance of gifts or favors from persons who do business with the government.

If such rules are violated, the employe can be dismissed and, if the government has been defrauded, he can be prosecuted.

There is no need for a complex set of laws when, after all is said and done, the remedy requires only a simple injunction demanding honesty and integrity from every person who serves the government.

Spring Training

By Truman Twill

There's no secret about baseball spring training. The purpose is publicity for baseball. The muscle conditioning and the polishing of timing are byproducts, as is the inspection of the young players hoping to land a berth in the major leagues.

Put these things together and add a bevy of baseball writers and photographers and you have a buildup for the national game that has been one of the notable things about its evolution. The fact is, baseball is not the nation's most popular game. It is not played or watched by as many people as basketball, for example, or football.

Many schools do not support baseball, or if they do baseball is a spring sport, like track and field. But until the recent rise of professional football, no other sport attracted the kind of attention that is given baseball each year, starting in the late winter when the players go to training camps.

That is when Americans become baseball-minded again, thanks to the game's reappearance on the sports pages and thanks to the wistful mood of winter-bound stay-at-homes who can smell the acrid odor of a freshly oiled baseball glove and feel the warmth of the sunshine when they read the stories from the training camps.

Every time it happens again, it stirs the fond hope that some day all the rest of us may share this wonderful experience of going to spring training camp and getting a buildup.

Alonzo R. Tack, trying out this year for head shipping clerk with the Consolidated Appliance Corp., has an inside track, according to observers who have been watching him work out in Consolidated's training camp at Swiss-on-Rye. Tack, a graduate of the service department with three years' experience in the high minors, moves well in both directions and is showing his boss that level swing which can keep the orders moving.

Junior X. Ecutive, eyeing a place in the starting lineup for the new holding corporation that will take up a franchise in the All-American Conference in 1960, is making old timers' eyes pop here at Slithering Springs with his never-say-die determination. Ecutive brought to camp a reputation for working the corners and having a mental catalog of the weaknesses of every competitor who ever faced him in the bushes. He is given a good chance to stay with the mother company if he can protect himself against injury. He was out most of last season after butting his head against a stone wall with the Hard Knocks outfit in the Triple A organization.

Wun Long-see, first Chinese-American to be given a trial with the Chicago Apple Knockers, was caught today by your inquiring reporter after a brisk workout with his first stock manipulation. Wun was grinning from ear to ear. "I had been told by noble ancestors that these Wall Street Throat-Cutters were tough babies," he chortled. "But before they got out their knives, I had slit their throats from ear to ear with a net of $337,000 after taxes. Not bad for a rice-snapper who didn't know a proxy from a loss carryover three years ago, huh?"

Lem Fumadiddle, grandaddy of the old pros, is seen here relaxing in a sandwich shop after the afternoon workout. Lem has been around a long time. He never made it big, but he played to the right and the left of many cover men on Time Magazine in his day. "I figure I have two more good years in me," he confided, over a glass of skim milk. "My problem always has been the lardage or more weight than my constitution could stand, but this spring I have that licked. I can help this outfit with my savvy, even if I have lost a little in the legs. These upstarts need a codger like me to steady them down and tell them where the bodies are buried. I'm looking forward to a good season."

Give a fellow like old Lem the advantage of a little buildup and who knows? He might turn into a late-blooming attraction.

Funds Sought For Cemetery

SALINEVILLE — A request for financial assistance in building a new office and equipment structure at Woodland Cemetery was submitted to Council by the cemetery trustees Monday night.

The trustees — Mrs. Margaret McNichol, Ed Thompson and Harold Johnson — said the present cemetery building is near collapse and a new structure, estimated to cost between $2,500 and $3,000, is required.

Council agreed to study the request, and will discuss possible financing plans with Solicitor Warren Bettis.

Frank Griffith, operator of Griffith's Tavern on Main St., protested the recent establishment of a one-side parking ban near his business. Griffith's objection was the only one voiced, and Council took no action.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott said a two-hour parking limit on a part of Main St. ordered enforced by Council last month will not be enforced strictly until new signs are delivered.

The street committee is to study renumbering and possible renaming some streets, and will report at the next meeting March 14.

Mackintosh Plant Continues Plan Of Scholarships

The Mackintosh-Hemphill Division of E. W. Bliss Co. will continue its scholarship program for the fifth consecutive year, J. Ralph Patterson, vice president and manager of the Midland plant announced.

Twenty-four students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last four years, are now being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges under this program. Represented among them are students sponsored by each of the company's major manufacturing divisions.

Administered through the company's personnel offices, this year's program will start with the fall term and the scholarships will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continues.

The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual need, Patterson said.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school at a fairly recent date with good scholastic rating and take qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

Application must be made by April 15 on forms obtainable from Raymond F. Crawford, the company's personnel manager, 901 Bingham St., Pittsburgh 3, Pa. Interviews will follow and the company's Scholarship Board will make the final selections.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend.

Churches Vote For Merger

SALINEVILLE — Merger of the Presbyterian Church and the United Presbyterian Church was authorized by the congregations at separate meetings Monday night.

The proposed consolidation was endorsed by the United Presbyterian congregation 39-4 and by the Presbyterian congregation by 27-24.

The proposal will be considered by the Presbytery at a special meeting and, if approved, the official merger may take place within a month.

Plans call for the newer, brick United Presbyterian Church building to be utilized for worship, while the older, frame Presbyterian Church structure will be used as a chapel.

A new name for the combined churches is to be selected for the joint congregation which will be served by the Rev. James McCollam, present minister of the United Presbyterian Church. The move is part of the national consolidation of Presbyterian and United Presbyterian Churches.

The merger committee included Orville Madison, Howard Adams, Mrs. Helen McClelland, Paul Blackburn and Walker Irvine of the Presbyterian Church and Edward Thompson, Allen Allmon, Eugene Knox, Richard Downard and Eugene Webster of the United Presbyterian Church.

Funds Sought For Cemetery

SALINEVILLE — A request for financial assistance in building a new office and equipment structure at Woodland Cemetery was submitted to Council by the cemetery trustees Monday night.

The trustees — Mrs. Margaret McNichol, Ed Thompson and Harold Johnson — said the present cemetery building is near collapse and a new structure, estimated to cost between $2,500 and $3,000, is required.

Council agreed to study the request, and will discuss possible financing plans with Solicitor Warren Bettis.

Frank Griffith, operator of Griffith's Tavern on Main St., protested the recent establishment of a one-side parking ban near his business. Griffith's objection was the only one voiced, and Council took no action.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott said a two-hour parking limit on a part of Main St. ordered enforced by Council last month will not be enforced strictly until new signs are delivered.

The street committee is to study renumbering and possible renaming some streets, and will report at the next meeting March 14.

project exactly, because "nobody really knows the cost." Although the overall total has been estimaetd at $5,700,000 it may be $200,000 to $500,000 less, Bloomgren said. A $500,000 reduction in the total cost would mean a $50,000 cut in the city's share, which is based on 5 per cent of the construction and right-of-way expense, he pointed out.

"If Council will permit the administration to pursue ways and means, we will keep Council advised of our progress," the mayor said. "We can't make any final decision, but simply make recommendations to Council.

The mayor did not indicate what direction the administration's investigation will take.

As part of a general discussion of the project, Council President Charles N. Edwards asked Bloomgren how much may be lost from the city's tax duplicate through purchase of homes and property for right-of-way for the highway.

Bloomgren said the total property loss probably will cut $500,000 to $600,000 from the tax duplicate. He said he made the estimate on the basis that the right-of-way cost is expected to hit around $1,750,000. The affected property probably is carried on the tax duplicate at the normal rate of about a third of its true market value, he explained.

Also attending the meeting were Councilmen Donald E. Smith, Robert B. Laughlin and Donald S. Hancock and Clerk Owen D. Kountz. Four members were absent. Clifford J. Cooper was ill, Clinton R. Seevers is out of town and John F. Kelly and John A. Melvin were working.

Three months later Purvis and three other FBI men, along with local police officers under the late Chief Hugh J. McDermott, tracked Floyd to the area north of Calcutta where they cornered Dillinger's successor to the "Public Enemy" title.

Floyd, then 26, and Adam Richetti, also 26, had held up a bank at Tiltonsville Oct. 19, getting $414 and launching one of Eastern Ohio's biggest manhunt.

The pair was traced to Wellsville where Richetti was wounded and captured in a skirmish with the late Police Chief John Fultz and two other officers. Floyd got away but was finally located on a tip in the Sprucevale Rd. area two days later.

Purvis with three of his men in one car and McDermott and three city patrolmen in another raced to the farm and saw Floyd leap from a farmer's car and run to a corn crib 500 feet from the road. The officers surrounded the field, then saw Floyd dart from the crib and start across the field.

Purvis called for him to surrender, but the gunman ran on. The officers fired, hitting Floyd, but he kept running. Then another fusillade dropped the Oklahoma criminal, and he died minutes later after Purvis tried to question him.

The search for Floyd and the shooting marked one of the most exciting incidents in area prior to World War II; an estimated 10,000 viewed the body of Floyd at the Sturgis Funeral Home before it was shipped to Akins, Okla. for burial.

Purvis and his men had already turned to the hunt for George "Baby Face" Nelson who succeeded Floyd for the new Public enemy title.

Purvis, who weighed only 127 pounds and stood 5-foot-7, gained national fame when he led a team of FBI agents that shot down Dillinger and Pretty Boy.

project exactly, because "nobody really knows the cost." Although the overall total has been estimaetd at $5,700,000 it may be $200,000 to $500,000 less, Bloomgren said. A $500,000 reduction in the total cost would mean a $50,000 cut in the city's share, which is based on 5 per cent of the construction and right-of-way expense, he pointed out.

"If Council will permit the administration to pursue ways and means, we will keep Council advised of our progress," the mayor said. "We can't make any final decision, but simply make recommendations to Council.

The mayor did not indicate what direction the administration's investigation will take.

As part of a general discussion of the project, Council President Charles N. Edwards asked Bloomgren how much may be lost from the city's tax duplicate through purchase of homes and property for right-of-way for the highway.

Bloomgren said the total property loss probably will cut $500,000 to $800,000 from the tax duplicate. He said he made the estimate on the basis that the right-of-way cost is expected to hit around $1,750,000. The affected property probably is carried on the tax duplicate at the normal rate of about a third of its true market value, he explained.

Also attending the meeting were Councilmen Donald E. Smith, Robert B. Laughlin and Donald S. Hancock and Clerk Owen D. Kountz. Four members were absent. Clifford J. Cooper was ill, Clinton R. Seevers is out of town and John F. Kelly and John A. Melvin were working.

Purvis

Three months later Purvis and three other FBI men, along with local police officers under the late Chief Hugh J. McDermott, tracked Floyd to the area north of Calcutta where they cornered Dillinger's successor to the "Public Enemy" title.

Floyd, then 26, and Adam Richetti, also 26, had held up a bank at Tiltonsville Oct. 19, getting $414 and launching one of Eastern Ohio's biggest manhunt.

The pair was traced to Wellsville where Richetti was wounded and captured in a skirmish with the late Police Chief John Fultz and two other officers. Floyd got away but was finally located on a tip in the Sprucevale Rd. area two days later.

Purvis with three of his men in one car and McDermott and three city patrolmen in another raced to the farm and saw Floyd leap from a farmer's car and run to a corn crib 500 feet from the road. The officers surrounded the field, then saw Floyd dart from the crib and start across the field.

Purvis called for him to surrender, but the gunman ran on. The officers fired, hitting Floyd, but he kept running. Then another fusillade dropped the Oklahoma criminal, and he died minutes later after Purvis tried to question him.

The search for Floyd and the shooting marked one of the most exciting incidents in area prior to World War II; an estimated 10,000 viewed the body of Floyd at the Sturgis Funeral Home before it was shipped to Akins, Okla. for burial.

Purvis and his men had already turned to the hunt for George "Baby Face" Nelson who succeeded Floyd for the new Public enemy title.

Purvis, who weighed only 127 pounds and stood 5-foot-7, gained national fame when he led a team of FBI agents that shot down Dillinger and Pretty Boy.

Admissions last year included 6,270 adults, 1,534 children and 1,344 newborn infants — including 8 sets of twins. Births were down from the 1,391 of 1958, when there were 17 sets of twins.

The number of patient days, or total number of days spent in the hospital by all patients, was 57,758 in 1959, an increase over the 56,672 of the previous year, while the average stay per patient was down to 6.3 days from the 6.338 days of 1958.

There also was an increase in the number of operations, from 2,593 in 1958 to 2,628 last year. The operations included 79 Caesarian sections, 66 teeth extractions and 667 tonsillectomies.

Laboratory tests totaled 70,139—64,336 for hospitalized patients and 5,803 for out-patients. In 1958, laboratory tests amounted to 67,401.

X-ray patients totaled 10,294, up from the 9,959 of 1958, and included 6,605 hospitalized patients and 3,689 out-patients. The total of actual X-ray films was 33,916.

The blood bank was served by 1,055 donors and provided 847 transfusions. There were 188,248 meals served to patients, employes and in the dining room. In 1958, there were 188,840 meals served.

There were 46,523 days of nursing service supplied, including 1,851 days by private duty nurses. This was an increase over the 45,820 days in 1958.

There were 40 student nurses given 2,224 hours of instruction, compared to 51 students given 2,057 hours in the year before. Instruction included that given by Steubenville College, Akron Children's Hospital and Woodside receiving Hospital.

Improvements at the hospital in 1959 included the employment of a registered pharmacist for the first time and the opening of a regular pharmacy; renovation and refurnishing of five private rooms by the Women's Auxiliary.

New storm windows at the front of the main section and new screens at the rear of the main section; a new viewing window in the isolation unit of the nursery, permitting nurses to observe infants from the corridor; a new dish washing unit in the dietary department.

Eight new cribs and mattresses for the pediatrics department; air conditioning units installed in X-ray and replacement of film developing tanks; an ice-making machine installed; renewal of sewage service lines to city mains; hot water tank, circulating heater and washer provided the nurses home.

New cupboard for the recovery room, drinking fountain for the dining room, and oxygen machine, suction pump and cart for general use.

Nurses have participated in such programs as the institute on staphylococcus infections in May, and were represented at cancer, maternal care and inhalation therapy institutes. Student nurses took part in district meetings of the National Student Council and will have representatives at the national meeting April 29-30.

2 Autos Damaged In St. Clair Crash

Two autos were damaged in a collision on St. Clair Ave. 150 feet north of Youngs Alley about 1:58 p. m. Monday, police reported.

The mishap involved a 1958 four-door sedan driven by William A. Wilson III, 17, of R. D. 2 and a 1959 four-door sedan operated by William McWhorter, 66, of 3190 Curry St., officers said.

Wilson was northbound and McWhorter was southbound when the youth veered to his left and struck McWhorter's car, police said. McWhorter said he pulled as far as possible to the right in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the crash.

The mishap damaged the left front fender and grill of the Wilson car and the entire left side and the right front fender of McWhorter's auto, police said.

Meanwhile, Catherine Seibert, 1055 Dresden Ave., told police yesterday afternoon the entire left side of her 1957 sedan was damaged by a hit-skip car Sunday night or Monday morning while it was parked on Dresden Ave.

Law Men To Meet

LISBON — Establishment of emergency road blocks will be discussed at a meeting of the Police Chiefs and Sheriffs Association March 9 at the County Jail. The meeting was slated Wednesday, but has been postponed a week, Sheriff Russell VanFossan said.

Instructions Prepared For Precinct Staff

With unusually large ballots assured, the County Election Board has started to draft instructions for the 912 precinct judges and clerks it will employ at the May 3 primaries.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said the instructions will stress the need for accuracy to avoid counting possibly invalidated ballots.

The veteran clerk said it is the first time he can recall in which double ballots — two for each party — will be used in a primary.

Because of the length of the ballot for the large number of candidates for the Republican and Democratic national convention delegates and alternates, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown decided to split it into two sections for each party.

One ballot will list candidates for convention delegates and alternates and the other will list the state, district and county candidates.

The 4 ballots will list a total of 465 names, O'Hanlon pointed out, including 178 candidates and 287 for election as precinct committeemen.

The ballots for convention delegates and alternates will list 101 names alone, he said. The Democratic ballot lists 50 candidates for delegates-at-large with 36 to be elected and 22 for alternate-at-large with 17 to be named.

The Republican ballot shows 11 candidates for delegate with 10 to be elected. An additional 10 are candidates for alternates.

The remaining eight names include four from each party for district delegates and alternates to the national conventions.

Precinct officials will have to be alert in counting ballots and probably will have to scan those for convention delegates to make certain the voter hasn't voted for more than the number to be elected, the clerk said.

If, for example, a Democrat should vote for 37 delegates-at-large, he will invalidate that portion of his ballot, O'Hanlon explained. Voters are not required to vote for 36 but cannot vote for any more, he added.

"Counting the ballots will be a man-sized job," O'Hanlon said, explaining the count will be very slow and may require all night in some precincts.

Planning Group Plans Conference

The Midland Planning Commission made plans Monday evening to contact industrial representatives for a discussion of highways and other proposals in a recent research and surveys report.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, commission chairman, will make arrangements for the conference. The research and surveys report is the basis for a comprehensive plan, expected to be completed in the next several months, which will show how present inadequacies may be eliminated for borough improvement.

Jack Wilson, a representative of Morris Knowles, Inc., engineers for the project, will be guest speaker for a meeting of the Midland Junior Women's Club March 9. No date was set for a public meeting for further discussions of the report.

Dr. Sigal said seven more copies of the surveys report have been received. Next meeting will be March 28.

Midland Driver Cited After Double Collision

A Midland man was arrested Monday night after hitting a parked car following an earlier collision with another auto on Route 68 near the Cooks Ferry Hill, police said.

Marko Relich, 64, of 125 5th St., Midland, was charged with drunken driving. He first hit a 1956 auto driven by Alfred L. Steff Jr., 450 Virginia Ave., who was traveling east on Route 68, police said.

Relich then continued on to Midland where he ran into the parked auto of Miss Kathleen Mullen, 6 West Dr., police said. About $200 in damage was estimated to each of the other autos. His 1950 car was demolished.

2 Autos Damaged In St. Clair Crash

Two autos were damaged in a collision on St. Clair Ave. 150 feet north of Youngs Alley about 1:58 p. m. Monday, police reported.

The mishap involved a 1958 four-door sedan driven by William A. Wilson III, 17, of R. D. 2 and a 1959 four-door sedan operated by William McWhorter, 66, of 3190 Curry St., officers said.

Wilson was northbound and McWhorter was southbound when the youth veered to his left and struck McWhorter's car, police said. McWhorter said he pulled as far as possible to the right in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the crash.

The mishap damaged the left front fender and grill of the Wilson car and the entire left side and the right front fender of McWhorter's auto, police said.

Meanwhile, Catherine Seibert, 1055 Dresden Ave., told police yesterday afternoon the entire left side of her 1957 sedan was damaged by a hit-skip car Sunday night or Monday morning while it was parked on Dresden Ave.

Instructions Prepared For Precinct Staff

With unusually large ballots assured, the County Election Board has started to draft instructions for the 912 precinct judges and clerks it will employ at the May 3 primaries.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said the instructions will stress the need for accuracy to avoid counting possibly invalidated ballots.

The veteran clerk said it is the first time he can recall in which double ballots — two for each party — will be used in a primary.

Because of the length of the ballot for the large number of candidates for the Republican and Democratic national convention delegates and alternates, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown decided to split it into two sections for each party.

One ballot will list candidates for convention delegates and alternates and the other will list the state, district and county candidates.

The 4 ballots will list a total of 465 names, O'Hanlon pointed out, including 178 candidates and 287 for election as precinct committeemen.

The ballots for convention delegates and alternates will list 101 names alone, he said. The Democratic ballot lists 50 candidates for delegates-at-large with 36 to be elected and 22 for alternate-at-large with 17 to be named.

The Republican ballot shows 11 candidates for delegate with 10 to be elected. An additional 10 are candidates for alternates.

The remaining eight names include four from each party for district delegates and alternates to the national conventions.

Precinct officials will have to be alert in counting ballots and probably will have to scan those for convention delegates to make certain the voter hasn't voted for more than the number to be elected, the clerk said.

If, for example, a Democrat should vote for 37 delegates-at-large, he will invalidate that portion of his ballot, O'Hanlon explained. Voters are not required to vote for 36 but cannot vote for any more, he added.

"Counting the ballots will be a man-sized job," O'Hanlon said, explaining the count will be very slow and may require all night in some precincts.

Planning Group Plans Conference

The Midland Planning Commission made plans Monday evening to contact industrial representatives for a discussion of highways and other proposals in a recent research and surveys report.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, commission chairman, will make arrangements for the conference. The research and surveys report is the basis for a comprehensive plan, expected to be completed in the next several months, which will show how present inadequacies may be eliminated for borough improvement.

Jack Wilson, a representative of Morris Knowles, Inc., engineers for the project, will be guest speaker for a meeting of the Midland Junior Women's Club March 9. No date was set for a public meeting for further discussions of the report.

Dr. Sigal said seven more copies of the surveys report have been received. Next meeting will be March 28.

Midland Driver Cited After Double Collision

A Midland man was arrested Monday night after hitting a parked car following an earlier collision with another auto on Route 68 near the Cooks Ferry Hill, police said.

Marko Relich, 64, of 125 5th St., Midland, was charged with drunken driving. He first hit a 1956 auto driven by Alfred L. Steff Jr., 450 Virginia Ave., who was traveling east on Route 68, police said.

Relich then continued on to Midland where he ran into the parked auto of Miss Kathleen Mullen, 6 West Dr., police said. About $200 in damage was estimated to each of the other autos. His 1950 car was demolished.

Fickle Child Needs Firm Guidance

As you read about the nine-year-old daughter in the following letter from a mother in Arkansas, you may recognize some children that you know.

By Garry Meyer.

"She seems to delight in being miserable — to me and towards other people," this mother says. "She has no regard for a person who is older. My daughter wants attention. That I understand. But I am quite troubled as to just how to give it to her. I do all that I possible can with her, take her nearly every place that she wants to go. My husband and I play cards and other games with her. He takes her horseback riding; we go on picnics together and vacations are at cottages so that she will enjoy them.

"MY DAUGHTER will do everything just the opposite of what I ask her to do. If she asks me what dress to put on for school, I tell her. Then she doesn't want to wear that dress for some reason or other.

"If I ask her to go to the store with me and she says No, I'll say 'O.K., Honey' — then she wants to go when I am ready to leave. Going to church on Sunday is the same. She never wants to go unless I am all ready to leave, then she cries and acts up that she wants to go, too.

"I started working four weeks ago. I got an elderly lady in to care for the baby and Cindy. She informed me Friday that she was leaving because of my daughter Cindy. She constantly tries to tell the woman what to do and what not to do. The lady is 65 and very gently mannered."

HERE, IN PART, was my reply:

It is pretty obvious that you have catered for years to your daughter's whims and that when she does not accept the advice she has asked you to give, she enjoys seeing you annoyed. Why let yourself act or feel vexed at such times? Just be too proud for that.

When she says she is not going with you to the store, for instance, accept her decision and hold her to it. When you are ready to go, tell her it is too late to take her along.

Thousands of youngsters, four or five, act as she does and their mothers, though distraught by the child's changed decision at the last moment, endure no end of inconvenience and annoyance waiting for the youngster to get ready.

NOW THAT YOU, trying hard to be kind to this daughter, have practiced her for years in her whims and tyranny, you can hardly hope to change her all at once. Yet you should change your own ways promptly. At a quiet moment you might well announce to her your resolve to change, and explain your reasons.

As your daughter learns not to boss you around, she will be less likely to be bossy toward your domestic help.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

'Kitchen Calories' Should Be Curbed

When it comes to dieting, good cooks are prone to feel thwarted, particularly when the budget is on the lean side, too. It's not easy to curb calories on a budget, but one thoughtful homemaker shares her cooking secrets with us. These low calorie ways of preparing food were devised in order to serve her husband good meals that control his weight.

By Ida Jean Kain

"I believe your overweights would find dieting easier if they cooked differently. Here are a few of my cooking hints which you may pass along if you like.

"For those who like fried eggs without the high calorie count, here is a good plan: Keep a pastry brush in a small jar of butter or margarine, and use a very small iron fry pan.

MERELY BRUSH the bottom of the pan, turn on very low heat, put in egg, cover the pan and steam. I get the prettiest fried egg I ever saw and with only 3 or 4 added calories. Potatoes can be 'fried' this way, too.

"We also like fried meats and chicken. Instead I drop the chicken leg or meat in a plain small roaster, no fat added, cover and bake at 350 degrees for three-quarters of an hour. Prepared this way, the chicken or meat is every bit as good as if it were fried. Sometimes I lay a potato on top of the meat—flavor without fat.

"I boil soup meat so I can use the stock with vegetables. Here again I use lean meat, such as chuck. When finished I drain off the liquor, let it cool, and remove the fat in a chunk. Then I cook low calorie vegetables in the meat stock.

"I have found to my surprise that plain vegetables like carrots, cabbage, peas, green beans, broccoli, and brussel sprouts taste delicious when only steamed in one-half cup water and seasoned with salt and pepper. No suaces or added ingredients needed, such as green peppers, pimiento, chives, etc. that we have to run to the store and buy.

"Beets can be pickled by adding only a little vinegar and their own juice, and spices if desired. Dill pickles are filling and can be served with radishes and celery. Cabbage can be used in so many ways . . . and slaw can be made with only a solution of water, vinegar, and a little sugar and salt. Cucumbers can be served with vinegar, and a little sugar and salt. Cucumbers can be served with vinegar and seasoning.

"ON CANNED FRUITS, I drain off the heavy syrup and use only the fruit. But mostly I use only fruits in season. When fruits are cooked, I add very, very little sugar. I've never written to a newspaper before, but I hope these hints will help your dieters."

Thank you friend. Curbing calories in the kitchen is really the only satisfying way to diet.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

'Kitchen Calories' Should Be Curbed

When it comes to dieting, good cooks are prone to feel thwarted, particularly when the budget is on the lean side, too. It's not easy to curb calories on a budget, but one thoughtful homemaker shares her cooking secrets with us. These low calorie ways of preparing food were devised in order to serve her husband good meals that control his weight.

By Ida Jean Kain

"I believe your overweights would find dieting easier if they cooked differently. Here are a few of my cooking hints which you may pass along if you like.

"For those who like fried eggs without the high calorie count, here is a good plan: Keep a pastry brush in a small jar of butter or margarine, and use a very small iron fry pan.

MERELY BRUSH the bottom of the pan, turn on very low heat, put in egg, cover the pan and steam. I get the prettiest fried egg I ever saw and with only 3 or 4 added calories. Potatoes can be 'fried' this way, too.

"We also like fried meats and chicken. Instead I drop the chicken leg or meat in a plain small roaster, no fat added, cover and bake at 350 degrees for three-quarters of an hour. Prepared this way, the chicken or meat is every bit as good as if it were fried. Sometimes I lay a potato on top of the meat—flavor without fat.

"I boil soup meat so I can use the stock with vegetables. Here again I use lean meat, such as chuck. When finished I drain off the liquor, let it cool, and remove the fat in a chunk. Then I cook low calorie vegetables in the meat stock.

"I have found to my surprise that plain vegetables like carrots, cabbage, peas, green beans, broccoli, and brussel sprouts taste delicious when only steamed in one-half cup water and seasoned with salt and pepper. No suaces or added ingredients needed, such as green peppers, pimiento, chives, etc. that we have to run to the store and buy.

"Beets can be pickled by adding only a little vinegar and their own juice, and spices if desired. Dill pickles are filling and can be served with radishes and celery. Cabbage can be used in so many ways . . . and slaw can be made with only a solution of water, vinegar, and a little sugar and salt. Cucumbers can be served with vinegar, and a little sugar and salt. Cucumbers can be served with vinegar and seasoning.

"ON CANNED FRUITS, I drain off the heavy syrup and use only the fruit. But mostly I use only fruits in season. When fruits are cooked, I add very, very little sugar. I've never written to a newspaper before, but I hope these hints will help your dieters."

Thank you friend. Curbing calories in the kitchen is really the only satisfying way to diet.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Mr. And Mrs. Reducing Plan" to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Number Of Ohio Farms Showed Drop In 1959

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of farms in Ohio dropped from 174,000 at the end of 1958 to 169,000 at the close of 1959, the Agriculture Department noted today in a report showing that the U.S. total declined about 2 per cent.

The 1959 decline is consistent with recent years, the report said. Farms continued to gain slightly in size from purchases and consolidations while suburban developments made further inroads into farming areas, it added.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's 18-year-old son by a former marriage lives in this town with his mother.

The boy (I'll call him Howard) is not close to his father. I've never said one word against the boy although I feel he uses his dad only as a cash register.

Howard has a key to our home. Last night we left a party early because I didn't feel well. We walked into a pitch-dark house and found Howard and a girl in the living room. The girl was a little chippie who couldn't have been more than 15.

I've been careful not to talk against the boy but I don't approve of this. Do I have the right to speak up?—NOT HIS MOTHER.

Dear Not: Maybe you're not his mother but the home is half yours and you have the right to complain when someone fouls your nest.

Your husband should insist that Howard surrender his key. Now that you know what goes on, failure to lower the boom would be tantamount to silent approval of his immoral conduct.

Encourage the boy to bring nice girls to the house to meet you—when you're at home.

Rivalry Is All In Mind

Dear Ann: For several years I've been married to a widower who has been simply wonderful to me. The only thing that spoils my happiness is that he speaks of his first wife in ridiculously glowing terms. I've managed to remain silent but it's been a struggle.

The thing that frosts me especially is his raving about her great beauty. I never knew this woman but I've seen loads of pictures and believe me that's stretching it a little.

I'm no Princess Grace but I'm at least as pretty as his wife was. I suppose I want to hear him say it—but he doesn't. Is it fair that I should be made to feel like a rival to a dead woman? NO. 2 WIFE.

Dear No. 2: The rivalry is only in your mind. It's impossible to compete with someone who doesn't exist.

Shakespeare said: "The evil that men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones." I think the opposite is true. The tendency is to remember the good and forget the rest.

Dear Ann: I'm a high school senior who plans to go into missionary nursing as a career.

My idea of a good date is a boy who will talk sense. I don't like drag racing, rock 'n' roll or movie star gossip. I'm interested in religion, service to others, good books, classical music and spiritual values.

My girl friends say I'd better keep these ideals to myself or I'll never land a boy friend. To be honest, I haven't had many dates and the boys who have taken me out haven't called back.

I'd like to have dates but I'm not willing to pretend an interest in things that bore me. Must a girl compromise these days?—OUT OF IT.

Dear Out: No you don't. There are boys who share your interests. You just haven't found one yet—but you will.

Don't lower your standards or feign enthusiasm for things that bore you because you think this will make you popular. You wouldn't be happy with the company you'd attract and, more important, you wouldn't be happy with yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

110 At LaCroft Cub Pack Dinner

The Rev. Ray Banks gave the invocation and benediction. The Mother Singers of the school sang three selections.

Bennett Taylor, Columbiana Boy Scout Council executive, was guest speaker. He was accompanied by his wife. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mugridge, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Fugate, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. James McKinnon, associated in scouting.

Austen Moore, cubmaster, introduced Fred Hilditch and James Angus, assistant cubmasters, and the committeemen.

The den mothers were recognized and presented flowers. Mrs. Joann Hilditch and Mrs. Dolores Hendricks and their committee were in charge of the dinner.

A planning meeting will be held March 21 with George Bock of 8th Ave., LaCroft. The next pack meeting will be March 28 at the school.

Conviction Reduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has reduced the first-degree murder conviction of John Frazee, 40, of Butler County, to second-degree murder, making the life-termer eligible for parole. Frazee and three companions were sentenced for the slaying of William Simpson, a New Miami marshal, during a tavern burglary Jan. 13, 1939.

Freezes To Death

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Stanley Zamora, 72, released on bond from Lorain City Jail Sunday, was found frozen to death near Lake Road in Lorain Monday. He had been arrested on a charge of intoxication. The coroner ruled death due to exposure.

Murdered 'Redhead' Not Weirton Woman

WEIRTON — The red-haired woman murdered in 1950 continues unidentified.

The latest attempt to identify the "redhead" buried in Berkeley Springs met another deadend here Monday when a 19-year-old Weirton girl and her father said the strangled victim was no relative of theirs.

The Weirton girl believed that the "redhead" might have been her mother who disappeared in 1950. She and her father checked files Monday at the Weirton Detachment of the West Virginia State Police but did not verify the identification.

State Police said they considered the lead had "met a deadend." The body of the "redhead" was found May 10, 1950.

Massillon Policeman Wins Reinstatement

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Policeman William Ilg won reinstatement on the Massillon force Monday in Judge Paul G. Weber's Common Pleas Court. He also is to get pay for a 30-day suspension which started Feb. 1, Judge Weber held. Massillon's city solicitor, Richard Maier, said the city would seek to reverse the judge's order.

Ilg had appealed his suspension for alleged misconduct to the Civil Service Commission of Massillon, which has not yet returned a decision. The suspension order, by Police Chief Glenn Keller, had been upheld by James A. Bower, Massillon safety-service director.

I'd like to have dates but I'm not willing to pretend an interest in things that bore me. Must a girl compromise these days?—OUT OF IT.

Dear Out: No you don't. There are boys who share your interests. You just haven't found one yet—but you will.

Don't lower your standards or feign enthusiasm for things that bore you because you think this will make you popular. You wouldn't be happy with the company you'd attract and, more important, you wouldn't be happy with yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

110 At LaCroft Cub Pack Dinner

The Rev. Ray Banks gave the invocation and benediction. The Mother Singers of the school sang three selections.

Bennett Taylor, Columbiana Boy Scout Council executive, was guest speaker. He was accompanied by his wife. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mugridge, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Fugate, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. James McKinnon, associated in scouting.

Austen Moore, cubmaster, introduced Fred Hilditch and James Angus, assistant cubmasters, and the committeemen.

The den mothers were recognized and presented flowers. Mrs. Joann Hilditch and Mrs. Dolores Hendricks and their committee were in charge of the dinner.

A planning meeting will be held March 21 with George Bock of 8th Ave., LaCroft. The next pack meeting will be March 28 at the school.

Conviction Reduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has reduced the first-degree murder conviction of John Frazee, 40, of Butler County, to second-degree murder, making the life-termer eligible for parole. Frazee and three companions were sentenced for the slaying of William Simpson, a New Miami marshal, during a tavern burglary Jan. 13, 1939.

Freezes To Death

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Stanley Zamora, 72, released on bond from Lorain City Jail Sunday, was found frozen to death near Lake Road in Lorain Monday. He had been arrested on a charge of intoxication. The coroner ruled death due to exposure.

Murdered 'Redhead' Not Weirton Woman

The latest attempt to identify the "redhead" buried in Berkeley Springs met another deadend here Monday when a 19-year-old Weirton girl and her father said the strangled victim was no relative of theirs.

The Weirton girl believed that the "redhead" might have been her mother who disappeared in 1950. She and her father checked files Monday at the Weirton Detachment of the West Virginia State Police but did not verify the identification.

State Police said they considered the lead had "met a deadend." The body of the "redhead" was found May 10, 1950.

Massillon Policeman Wins Reinstatement

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Policeman William Ilg won reinstatement on the Massillon force Monday in Judge Paul G. Weber's Common Pleas Court. He also is to get pay for a 30-day suspension which started Feb. 1, Judge Weber held. Massillon's city solicitor, Richard Maier, said the city would seek to reverse the judge's order.

Ilg had appealed his suspension for alleged misconduct to the Civil Service Commission of Massillon, which has not yet returned a decision. The suspension order, by Police Chief Glenn Keller, had been upheld by James A. Bower, Massillon safety-service director.

LISBON — Robert Baeder of New York, representative of the World Book Co., will address the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon in the American Legion Home. He specializes in setting up tests in schools to evaluate educational programs. Charles Faust is program chairman.

Number Of Ohio Farms Showed Drop In 1959

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of farms in Ohio dropped from 174,000 at the end of 1958 to 169,000 at the close of 1959, the Agriculture Department noted today in a report showing that the U.S. total declined about 2 per cent.

The 1959 decline is consistent with recent years, the report said. Farms continued to gain slightly in size from purchases and consolidations while suburban developments made further inroads into farming areas, it added.

Lisbon Driver Cited

LISBON — Glenn Baker, 27, of 343 W. Spruce St., was cited by the State Highway Patrol after his car drifted backward into one operated by Peary Halverstadt, 50, of R. D. 3 Monday about noon on Route 30 a half mile west. Baker, who was headed up hill and failed to shift gears, was charged with reckless operation, officers said. Damage was minor.

VanDoren Assumes Role Of TV Critic

The National Broadcasting Co. found last week an unexpected critic among the multifarious fault-finders of network procedure. The new carper is former employe Charles Van Doren, who's turned to writing to escape the memory of the Great Quiz Show Scandal.

Marie Torre

Van Doren writes all the time now, and not only for practice. In the second issue of the bi-monthly Leisure magazine, of which he is an associate editor, the former television idol takes a look at TV censorship, particularly NBC's idea of censorship, and compares it to "using a pile driver to kill a mouse."

THE VAN DOREN article reads in part:

"Television is nice. It uses nice words, it shows nice people, it talks about nice things. There's even something nice and safe about its exaggerated villains. But the word is deadening. Nice things are not the most interesting things.

"Almost everybody in television is as nice as the things he talks about. Nice people don't have to be censored. They won't use words that are unacceptable. They won't ask questions they shouldn't ask.

"That is why the suggestion, made by Mr. Robert Kintner, president of NBC, that the industry should hire an ex-FBI investigator to check on its operations, seems to me rather like using a pile driver to kill a mouse. For one thing, you'll miss the mouse. If you do catch it, you'll crush it beyond recognition.

"The fact is, censorship never works. If people want television to be nice, it will be nice. If they want it to be something else that's what it will be. So it is with everything popular. The only way for television to escape is for it to become unpopular. That's a way out that nobody wants to try."

VAN DOREN'S outpourings, covering a nine-page section in the magazine, are a collection of casual essays titled "Ideas at Leisure." Nowhere does Van Doren deal directly with the part he played in the Supreme Fraud, but the reader senses remorse between the lines.

"It seems to me a part of wisdom to beware of anyone bearing gifts," he says in one of the essays.

"If the gift has no strings attached the recipient immediately attaches them himself. . . . This is especially true of money. Few men believe they earn the money that is paid. Earn it completely, that is. They believe they also must be grateful to the organization that gives it to them. And gratitude is a spider's web."

Other Van Doren observations:

"Good luck should be distrusted. From bad luck we can learn; good luck teaches us nothing."

"Losing is the difficult thing; anyone can win."

Van Doren's readers have, if nothing else, the assurance that his philosophic ripples bear the truth of personal experience.

"THE BAT," first of three "Dow Hour of Great Mysteries" shows (March 31), will have the formidable services of Helen Hayes and Jason Robards Jr.

This is the series which Boston barrister Joseph N. Welch will host.

THE REPEATED refusal of each of the three networks to provide commercial air time for the independently produced "The Race for Space" hasn't caused its sponsor to drop the $100,000 project.

"We're still interested," said a sponsor's spokesman, "in seeing this fine film aired over any one of the three networks."

Each of the networks has rejected the show, an excellent documentary of the vital subject of space flight, on the grounds that all news and public affairs shows must be made within the domain of the networks, a policy not included in the TV Code incidentally.

The unyielding position of the sponsor is to be commended. This is one advertiser that is trying to do what a top NBC official urged all advertisers to do in a recent speech before the Association of National Advertisers.

"Broadcasters," said the NBC official, "have a definite obligation to inform the country through comprehensive news and public affairs coverage.

"I would invite the interest of this group to a hard core of listeners and watchers who value greatly these public affairs efforts."

Schizophrenia, anyone?

Cut Suggested In Crop Lands

Less land will be planted to vegetables for processing in the middle west if growers and processors follow the 1960 acreage-marketing guides just issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The guides recommend a reduction of 3 percent from the total acreage planted last year to 9 principal vegetable crops. The only suggested increase of concern to midwestern growers is for 5 percent more cabbage.

The same acreage as last year is recommended for tomatoes, cucumbers, pickles, beets and lima beans.

Reductions recommended are as follows: Snap beans for canning, down 10 percent; for freezing, 5 percent; sweet corn, 5 percent reductions for both freezing and canning; green peas, for canning, down 3 percent, for freezing, down 7 percent, and spinach, a reduction of 7 percent.

The acreage guides are not compulsory, but represent the opinion of Department of Agriculture economists as to the number of acres needed to meet national needs and provide a fair return to growers.

The middle west produces about a third of the national total of processed vegetables, canned, frozen and brined.

Copies of the 1960 acreage-marketing guide, with acreage, production and carryover figures for each vegetable crop, and comparisons with several previous years are available without cost from the Office of Information, Department of Agriculture, Washington, 25, D. C.

"It seems to me a part of wisdom to beware of anyone bearing gifts," he says in one of the essays.

"If the gift has no strings attached the recipient immediately attaches them himself. . . . This is especially true of money. Few men believe they earn the money that is paid. Earn it completely, that is. They believe they also must be grateful to the organization that gives it to them. And gratitude is a spider's web."

Other Van Doren observations:

"Good luck should be distrusted. From bad luck we can learn; good luck teaches us nothing."

"Losing is the difficult thing; anyone can win."

Van Doren's readers have, if nothing else, the assurance that his philosophic ripples bear the truth of personal experience.

"THE BAT," first of three "Dow Hour of Great Mysteries" shows (March 31), will have the formidable services of Helen Hayes and Jason Robards Jr.

This is the series which Boston barrister Joseph N. Welch will host.

THE REPEATED refusal of each of the three networks to provide commercial air time for the independently produced "The Race for Space" hasn't caused its sponsor to drop the $100,000 project.

"We're still interested," said a sponsor's spokesman, "in seeing this fine film aired over any one of the three networks."

Each of the networks has rejected the show, an excellent documentary of the vital subject of space flight, on the grounds that all news and public affairs shows must be made within the domain of the networks, a policy not included in the TV Code incidentally.

The unyielding position of the sponsor is to be commended. This is one advertiser that is trying to do what a top NBC official urged all advertisers to do in a recent speech before the Association of National Advertisers.

"Broadcasters," said the NBC official, "have a definite obligation to inform the country through comprehensive news and public affairs coverage.

"I would invite the interest of this group to a hard core of listeners and watchers who value greatly these public affairs efforts."

Schizophrenia, anyone?

Cut Suggested In Crop Lands

Less land will be planted to vegetables for processing in the middle west if growers and processors follow the 1960 acreage-marketing guides just issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The guides recommend a reduction of 3 percent from the total acreage planted last year to 9 principal vegetable crops. The only suggested increase of concern to midwestern growers is for 5 percent more cabbage.

The same acreage as last year is recommended for tomatoes, cucumbers, pickles, beets and lima beans.

Reductions recommended are as follows: Snap beans for canning, down 10 percent; for freezing, 5 percent; sweet corn, 5 percent reductions for both freezing and canning; green peas, for canning, down 3 percent, for freezing, down 7 percent, and spinach, a reduction of 7 percent.

The acreage guides are not compulsory, but represent the opinion of Department of Agriculture economists as to the number of acres needed to meet national needs and provide a fair return to growers.

The middle west produces about a third of the national total of processed vegetables, canned, frozen and brined.

Copies of the 1960 acreage-marketing guide, with acreage, production and carryover figures for each vegetable crop, and comparisons with several previous years are available without cost from the Office of Information, Department of Agriculture, Washington, 25, D. C.

Cities Will Seek Delay For Gas Rate Hearings

Eight riverfront communities opposing a rate increase sought by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. expect to ask the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus to delay a scheduled March 8 hearing on the application.

Solicitors who represent the cities and villages said they need more time to prepare their arguments against the gas company's application. Solicitor Jack Malik of Bellaire said he will write a letter to the PUCO asking the delay.

Land Case Settled; Jury Venire Excused

Land appropriation case scheduled for trial in Common Pleas Court for Monday morning was canceled after the parties settled out-of-court.

The State Highway Department filed the suit for the property of James B. Moss, 509 W. 9th St., near the Westgate School for the East Liverpool Freeway.

Jurors called for the case were excused by Judge Joel H. Sharp. The state assumes the cost of the case.

Potters Drop 75-70 Heartbreaker To Steubenville Five

Bow In Sectional Tournament Start

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

An East Liverpool team, which improved steadily with each game this season, turned in its peak performance Monday night before a packed house of some 1,200 fans which sat in on the tournament opener.

Steubenville now advances to the semi-finals, meeting Jefferson Union, which eliminated Wintersville, 59-38, in the second game Monday night.

Perhaps the game was decided in the first quarter when the Potters got off to a poor start or perhaps it was on a couple of officials' calls that could have gone either way. Whatever it was, Steubenville knew it was in a battle all the way.

The Potters, who seemed to be suffering from stage fright during the first quarter, were behind 20-10 as the period ended.

They looked like a new team in the second quarter and had Steubenville on the run for the rest of the game.

The inspired Blue and White cagers moved to within one point, 37-36 at halftime and then forged ahead 56-55 at the end of the third quarter.

The fourth period was tense. Steubenville broke a 63-63 tie with 3:52 remaining, then managed to stay on top until the final buzzer.

He grabbed 19 rebounds in his duel with Steubenville's Sandy Williams and at the same time dropped in 20 points.

More fantastic than his rebounding and scoring was the fact that with 5:17 left in the third quarter, he drew his fourth personal foul, but managed to continue in the game until the finish.

Cunningham, one of the finest little guards in a long line of small-size court stars who have performed for the Potters, finished the game as the top pointmaker with 25.

He awed the crowd with his brilliant driving and scoring ability. And when he wasn't driving, he would stand back and let fly with his deadly jump shot.

Cunningham wound up a great year, breaking two East Liverpool school records — the individual scoring mark of 39 against Toronto and the season record.

His 25 points last night gave him a total of 360 in 18 games (he missed the Martins Ferry game because of an ankle injury) this season.

Miller was the other chief point contributer with 17 and he did a fine job of tieing up Phil Musgrave, Steubenville's No. 2 scorer and rebounder.

STEUBENVILLE'S one-two scoring combination of Williams and Musgrave again proved itself, however, over all.

Musgrave wasn't impressive in the first half, but came back in the third quarter to score 8 points to keep his team in the game.

Williams' scoring was balanced. Although he was shooting poorly from the foul line in the first half, he dropped in the charity throws when they counted by hitting on six straight in the fourth period.

STEUBENVILLE entered the tournament as one of the seeded teams and showed a 15-4 record after last night's victory. East Liverpool ended with an overall 6-13 mark.

Trailing 29-19, the Potters went on a 7-point scoring spree which brought them within three points, 29-26, with 3:56 remaining in the half.

Steubenville pushed the lead back to 32-26, but the Potters went to work again. With less than a minute remaining in the half, Big Red led 37-32, but Chan and Cunningham closed out the period with consecutive goals to bring East Liverpool within one-point at the buzzer.

OPENING THE second half with an upset on their minds, the Potters took the lead on Cunningham's fielder and held onto a slim margin throughout most of the third quarter.

On the particular foul, Arlie Keith, one of the officials, called charging on Jones, while Evan Reese, the other whistletooter, blew the foul on Bigelow. It looked to be an obvious charging against Jones.

East Liverpool battled to a 56-55 edge when the third quarter ended. With Cunningham scoring 10 points and Miller 6 in that period.

Herb Score May Hold Key To Tribe's Pennant Hopes

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — There seems to be rather general agreement as the Cleveland Indians go into spring training here today that southpaw Herb Score, more than any other player, holds the key to the club's 1960 pennant hopes.

With Cal McLish, last year's big winner, traded to Cincinnati, the Indians are shy on experienced starting pitching talent. Score could be the aswer to the shortage if he could regain a substantial part of the speed and effectiveness that made him baseball's strikeout king in 1955 and 1956.

Manager Joe Gordon announced Monday he's going to leave the handling of pitchers entirely to Mel Harder's direction. And Ted Wilks has been added to Harder's staff for the express purpose of helping Score.

"I learned my lesson last year when I tried to get Herb Score to pitch without a windup," Gordon said. "It didn't hurt him, but it didn't do him any good either. Harder knows more about pitching than I do, so he's the boss."

Wilks, a former Indian relief hurler, "did a lot to straighten Score out at Indianapolis a few years back," Harder said. "Herb believes in him. But however we manage it, we have to do everything in our power to get him back on the track, for our sake as well as his."

"I believe the key to the problem is in his mind," Harder said. "He has to convince himself that he still has everything he had when he was a 20-game winner for us. It's important that he get off to a good start out here in spring training."

Battle For Ohio High School Crowns Remains Wide Open

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Just 25 days from now Ohio will crown its 1960 high school basketball champions. The battle for the Class AA and Class A titles is still a wide open, free-for-all scrap.

Sectional-district play got under way this week, with 523 teams still in the race—172 in Class A and 351 in the larger school Class AA division.

Sidelined by defeats in county tournaments were 389 Class A squads, along with 81 Class AA quintets which got early starts—and finishes—in sectional clashes. Among the survivors of the 993 starting teams, made up of 25,782 players, are the usual favorites and the always-present Cinderella squads.

Still on hand are all of the top 10 teams in the final Associated Press Class AA poll, and only Lykens, rated eighth in the Class A top 10, failed to come out of the county tournaments unscathed. Lykens' 20-game winning streak was halted 53-51 by Mt. Zion in the Crawford County fnials.

Basketballs are flying all over the state this week as the Class A survivors battle in 27 sectional-district meets, and the Class AA crowd on 41 fronts. By March 12, when the district meets end, only 16 in each class will be around—all headed for the regionals the following weekend.

Out of the regionals four in each division will make it to the state finals here March 25-26. A year ago Cleveland East Tech (23-0), Toledo Scott (20-4), Middletown (21-4) and Salem (24-1) reached the Class AA finals, with East Tech winning its second straight title with an unblemished record.

Of that quartet only Middletown is missing from this year's top 10, headed by unbeaten Dayton Roosevelt. East Tech was second in the final ratings, Salem sixth and Toledo Scott seventh.

Northwestern of Wayne County (25-2), the 1958 champion, Salem Local of Urbana (27-0), Lynwood-Jacksontown (22-4) and Edgerton (24-3) reached last year's Class A finals, Edgerton winning the laurels. Of the four, Northwestern headed the current top 10 poll, and Salem Local was third.

75 Attend Dinner For St. Stephen's Basketball Team

St. Stephen's has lost only two games in two years and was the Church League champs in 1959.

Judge Louis Tobin was guest speaker and Merrill Hall, East Liverpool High School athletic director, was master of ceremonies. The following guests were introduced: Supt. Ralph Betts; Jim Harris, head basketball coach at ELHS; Frank Chan, assistant; Mayor Bert Goodballet; Safety director Lee Copenhaver; Harry McConville, president of the Little Potters League; Charles A. Winters, vice-president, and Bob Duffy, Review sports editor.

Skaters Rest Before World Figure Trials

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) —An extra five hours of rest was granted the feminine gender today when the start of competition in the 1960 World Figure Skating Championships was postponed ununtil 4 p.m. (EST).

Two dozen girls, most of them just in — and weary — from the Olympic competition, had been scheduled to take the ice at 8 a.m. Each was to have skated three school figures on the opening program of the five-day world meet.

The delay was ordered when it was learned several of the contestants would arrive later than planned.

The 24 will skate just two figures each today, and complete the required six Wednesday morning. Free skating for women, winding up their competition, is Thursday night.

Most of the pre-meet excitement was centering around the men's competition, left wide open by the retirement of Dave Jenkins of the United States and the withdrawal of Karol Divins of Czechoslovakia. They were 1-2 in the Olympics.

Jenkins has resumed his medical studies at Western Reserve University.

Wellsville, Springfield Await Tourney Tonight

Top-seeded Wellsville, on the rebound from losing its season's finale to East Liverpool Saturday night, dives into tournament play tonight against Springfield Local in the first game at 7.

Wellsville and Springfield will be followed on the court by Toronto and Steubenville Central at 8:15. The winners of these two games meet Thursday at 8 p. m.

The other four starters are John Dillon, the captain, 5-foot-8, Bob Anderson, 5-foot-11, Dave Finn, 5-foot-11, and Bill Hanlin, 5-foot-10. Wellsville turned in a 14-4 mark during the 1959-60 campaign.

Grimm To Coach Third

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Charlie Grimm, back for a third term as pilot of the Chicago Cubs, has announced he'll also be the third base coach. Grimm added that Lou Klein will coach at first base. Charlie Root, pitching coach, will be in the dugout and Elvin Tappe will handle bullpen duties.

In McKeesport Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Parker of Youngstown, Ohio, will replace middleweight boxer Walter Turner of Middletown, Ohio, in a fight tonight against Kid Chocolate in McKeesport. Turner withdrew because of a nose injury suffered in training Monday.

Potters Drop 75-70 Heartbreaker To Steubenville Five

Bow In Sectional Tournament Start

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

An East Liverpool team, which improved steadily with each game this season, turned in its peak performance Monday night before a packed house of some 1,200 fans which sat in on the tournament opener.

Steubenville now advances to the semi-finals, meeting Jefferson Union, which eliminated Wintersville, 59-38, in the second game Monday night.

Perhaps the game was decided in the first quarter when the Potters got off to a poor start or perhaps it was on a couple of officials' calls that could have gone either way. Whatever it was, Steubenville knew it was in a battle all the way.

The Potters, who seemed to be suffering from stage fright during the first quarter, were behind 20-10 as the period ended.

They looked like a new team in the second quarter and had Steubenville on the run for the rest of the game.

The inspired Blue and White cagers moved to within one point, 37-36 at halftime and then forged ahead 56-55 at the end of the third quarter.

The fourth period was tense. Steubenville broke a 63-63 tie with 3:52 remaining, then managed to stay on top until the final buzzer.

He grabbed 19 rebounds in his duel with Steubenville's Sandy Williams and at the same time dropped in 20 points.

More fantastic than his rebounding and scoring was the fact that with 5:17 left in the third quarter, he drew his fourth personal foul, but managed to continue in the game until the finish.

Cunningham, one of the finest little guards in a long line of small-size court stars who have performed for the Potters, finished the game as the top pointmaker with 25.

He awed the crowd with his brilliant driving and scoring ability. And when he wasn't driving, he would stand back and let fly with his deadly jump shot.

Cunningham wound up a great year, breaking two East Liverpool school records — the individual scoring mark of 39 against Toronto and the season record.

His 25 points last night gave him a total of 360 in 16 games (he missed the Martins Ferry game because of an ankle injury) this season.

Miller was the other chief point contributer with 17 and he did a fine job of tieing up Phil Musgrave, Steubenville's No. 2 scorer and rebounder.

STEUBENVILLE'S one-two scoring combination of Williams and Musgrave again proved itself, however, over all.

Musgrave wasn't impressive in the first half, but came back in the third quarter to score 8 points to keep his team in the game.

Williams' scoring was balanced. Although he was shooting poorly from the foul line in the first half, he dropped in the charity throws when they counted by hitting on six straight in the fourth period.

Jim Hill, Steubenville guard, who didn't shoot much, usually threaded the net when he did and ended up with 13 points.

The Big Red cagers hit a dazzling 53 per cent, with 31 of 58 from the field.

East Liverpool fired 61 times and scored 27 goals, for a respectable 44 per cent.

STEUBENVILLE entered the tournament as one of the seeded teams and showed a 15-4 record after last night's victory. East Liverpool ended with an overall 6-13 mark.

East Liverpool trailed by as much as 12 points near the end of the period.

Coach Jim Harris sent his Potters out for the second period and they came to life midway through the quarter.

Trailing 29-19, the Potters went on a 7-point scoring spree which brought them within three points, 29-26, with 3:56 remaining in the half.

Mackall's beautiful tip when he caught Steubenville napping brought East Liverpool within three points. It was his only field goal of the game.

Steubenville pushed the lead back to 32-26, but the Potters went to work again. With less than a minute remaining in the half, Big Red led 37-32, but Chan and Cunningham closed out the period with consecutive goals to bring East Liverpool within one-point at the buzzer.

OPENING THE second half with an upset on their minds, the Potters took the lead on Cunningham's fielder and held onto a slim margin throughout most of the third quarter.

On the particular foul, Arlie Keith, one of the officials, called charging on Jones, while Evan Reese, the other whistletooter, blew the foul on Bigelow. It looked to be an obvious charging against Jones.

The double foul was Jones' fifth and Bigelow's fourth, but East Liverpool's 6-foot-6 center managed to stay around for the rest of the game.

East Liverpool battled to a 56-55 edge when the third quarter ended. With Cunningham scoring 10 points and Miller 6 in that period.

West Virginia Must Defense NCAA Rival

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia's basketball forces will have to play a strong defensive game if they hope to sink the Navy in the East Regional NCAA playoff in New York's Madison Square Garden next Tuesday.

That's the opinion of WVU frosh coach Quentin Barnette who scouted the Middies last Saturday in their 69-57 victory over Army.

Navy's front line is made up of seniors — 6-3 Richard Brown and 6-2 James Bower at forwards and 6-6 Jay Metzler at center. A pair of speedy sophs — 5-10 Allen Hughes and 5-11 Dave Tremaine—operate in the backcourt.

Navy owns a 16-5 record including victories over Penn State (87-71) and Pitt (74-58). WVU whipped Penn State twice (104-74 and 75-73) and Pitt twice (76-66 and 89-75).

The Middies' losses included a pair to VPI (89-78) and NYU (69-61). WVU beat NYU (98-69) and VPI (82-72).

It's been feast or famine for WVU in NCAA play. It was famine the first four years when the Mountaineers bowed out of the NCAA competition after the first round. Last year, it was feast when WVU rolled into the finals before losing to California 71-70.

The Mountaineers are having a brief respite from practice. They'll go back to work Thursday, however. WVU Coach Fred Schaus plans to fly the team to New York next Monday.

Indiana Snaps Ohio State's Big 10 Win Streak With 99-83 Decision

By The Associated Press

Ohio State's hopes of an undefeated Big Ten basketball campaign were buried at Indiana Monday night by a hot-shooting, revenge-minded Hoosier quintet.

Indiana ripped apart the Buckeyes 99-83 and avenged its one-point loss at Columbus earlier in the season. If Indiana had won that game, the two teams would be tied for the conference lead.

But as things stand, the Buckeyes (12-1) already have won the title and a shot at the NCAA championship.

Indiana (10-3), in winning its 10th straight conference game after three opening losses, assured itself of second place. Five Hoosiers scored in double figures, Walt Bellamy getting 24 and Bob Wilkinson 21.

The Hoosiers rang the bell 37 times in 70 field goal tries for a neat .529 pace, including a .606 first half (20 of 33). The Bucks, off their record average, made 34 of 81 for .420. Indiana also had a wide foul stripe margin.

Following the loss, OSU coach Fred Taylor said:

"It's a heck of a note to have the right to play in the NCAA and still have the pressure to keep a winning streak going. Indiana's rebounding really ripped us up—and that Wilkinson is a helluva good player."

Indiana coach Branch McCracken credited his defense with the victory and called Ohio State "a real fine ball club and they could win the NCAA."

The Big Ten race ends Saturday with five games. Illinois is at Northwestern, Indiana at Michigan State, Michigan at Iowa, Ohio State at Minnesota and Purdue at Wisconsin.

Northwestern climbed into a third place tie with Minnesota by defeating Wisconsin at Evanston Monday night, 73-59. Both have 8-5 records. Illinois (7-6) scored a 90-61 home-court victory over Michigan (1-12).

2 Quints Join NCAA Firing

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Welcome Texas and New Mexico State to the list of tournament champions which will compete in the NCAA tournament. But strike out Ohio State's gaudy undefeated Big Ten record when it begins competing for the national championship.

Texas, a flop a year ago with a 4-20 record, won the Southwest Conference title Monday night when it beat cellar-dwelling Rice 86-62. New Mexico State clinched the Border Conference crown with a 76-46 victory over Arizona.

But Ohio State, ranked second in this week's Associated Press poll, had its 13-0 Big Ten record muddied by a hot-shooting Indiana team that easily won 99-83.

Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked team, clinched at least a tie for the Missouri Valley crown and its ensuing NCAA berth by walloping Tulsa 110-64 as Oscar Robertson scored 43 points.

Texas and New Mexico State join Southern Conference champion West Virginia, Mid-American champ Ohio University and Ohio State as the only bona fide conference titlists to represent their loops in NCAA play so far. Georgia Tech, second in the Southeastern Conference, will be that league's representative.

Teams filling at-large berths are Miami (Fla.), Navy, NYU, Notre Dame, DePaul, California, last year's champion and Idaho State. The list will be completed after this weekend.

Texas, which hasn't been in the NCAA tournament since 1947, also got an assist from Texas Tech, which knocked off second-place Southern Methodist 71-69, making it impossible for SMU to catch the Longhorns. Each has one SWC game remaining.

Annual Holdout Season Is Underway Officially

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The holdout season got under way officially today and not a single American League club could boast all its players were in the fold.

On the other hand, four National League teams—Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Chicago and St. Louis—were 100 per cent signed.

Several full squads don't report until later in the week, but if a player isn't signed by 12:01 on March 1. He is considered a member of the holdout corps.

On that basis, here is a rundown of the discontended:

American League

Cleveland — Outfielder Rocky Colavito.

Kansas City—Pitcher Ned Garver.

Boston—Catcher Sammy White, outfielder Gary Geiger (due out of service in April).

National League

Of the five still unsigned on the American League champion White Sox, Donovan could turn out to be the toughest. He had a disappointing season last year and is being asked to take a cut.

Mantle is being a rugged individualist with the Yanks. Twice he has rejected pleas by general manager George Weiss to go to New York's St. Petersburg, Fla., base to talk things over. His average dipped to .285 last year and he is being asked to take close to the maximum 25 per cent cut.

Colavito, the Indians' big warhead, reportedly wants $40,000 and has been offered $35,000.

Ohio Teams Break Even With Out-Of-State Foes

By The Associated Press

Ohio's collegiate basketball teams saw action in six interstate games Monday night and came out on top in exactly half.

The winners were Cincinnati, Bowling Green and Ohio University. The losers were Kent State, Miami and—yes—Ohio State.

Cincinnati trampled Tulsa 110-64 in a stretch drive for a third straight Missouri Valley Conference crown. Bowling Green overcame a 14-point deficit in the second half to defeat Loyola of Chicago 70-67. Ohio U. had no trouble whipping Morehead (Ky.) 96-66.

The battling Buckeyes of Ohio State finally took their first Big Ten loss—at the hands of Indians, 99-83. The defeat rubbed out the Bucks' chances of being the first undefeated Western Conference champion in 17 years.

Western Kentucky broke loose from a 31-all tie at halftime to overcome Kent 69-60. Miami finished out its season with a 8-18 record after Louisville romped over the Redskins 83-65.

At Bluffton College, where the NAIA District 22 (Ohio) tournament is underway, Ashland pulled a stunning upset by whipping Defiance 78-73. Defiance, Mid-Ohio League champ, went into the game with a 22-1 record—and that one loss also was at the hands of Ashland.

In the other NAIA tourney tilt, Findlay beat Ohio Northern 73-59. Findlay takes on Ashland tonight for entry in the March 7-12 national NAIA meet at Kansas City.

In other games, Steubenville, behind the 25-point shooting of John Blanda, racked up a 77-71 victory over Central State; and John Carroll handed winless Fenn its 17th loss, 66-46.

Indiana, ranked No. 12 in the Associated Press ratings, staged a tremendous shooting exhibition in downing second-ranked Ohio State. The Hoosiers, who now are sure to finish second behind Ohio State in the Big Ten race, held a 52-38 lead at intermission and just outclassed the Buckeyes.

Tall Jerry Lucas popped in 27 points in the Bucks' losing cause, and teammate John Havlicek added 25. The loss snapped a 13-game winning streak for Ohio State which is 20-3 over-all.

Cincinnati ran up 13 straight points for a 19-4 lead, then soared away for its victory over Tulsa. It was the last home game for Bearcat Oscar Robertson who made the most of it by sinking 43 points.

Eastern Teams In NBA To Show 5 Title Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Eastern Division teams in the National Basketball Assn. will provide the five major individual champions for 1959-60.

NBA statistics released today showed Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain, chosen Monday as the loop's most valuable player and rookie of the year, is headed for the scoring and rebounding titles.

Wilt the Stilt, who already has broken the season marks in both departments, currently has 2,522 points and 1,831 rebounds.

New York's Ken Sears, who is finished for the year in order to undergo a medical checkup, has a one-point field goal percentage lead with .477 to .476 for Hal Greer of Syracuse.

Dolph Schayes of Syracuse has a substantial lead in the foul shooting with a .892 mark on 507 of 568.

Hull Ties Horvath In NHL Scoring Race

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull, with nine points in two weeks, has tied Boston's Bronco Horvath for the scoring lead in the National Hockey League — each with 73 points — according to statistics released today.

Hull, the mainstay of the Chicago Black Hawks, has been able to take advantage of a scoring famine by Horvath, who has scored only one point in two weeks and got none last week.

Horvath has 27 goals, tops in the NHL, and 36 assists while Hull has 35 and 38. The season ends March 20.

Don McKenney of Boston has the most assists — 43.

Cincy Cagers Remain No. 1

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The top 10 college basketball teams in the country, with Oscar Robertson's Cincinnati Bearcats the No. 1 attraction, all appear on the road to either the NCAA or NIT post-season glamor events.

Overwhelmingly chosen as the nation's top-ranked club in the Associated Press poll the Bearcats went out Monday night and clinched at least a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference championship with the record-breaking Big O scoring 43 points in a 110-64 thumping of Tulsa.

The Bearcats, who drew 70 first-place votes and 1,506 points in the weekly balloting of sports writers and casters, automatically qualify for the NCAA tournament if they retain the top spot in the tough league.

Ohio State, No. 2, nailed an NCAA brth by copping the Big Ten championship while defending titlist California, third-ranked in the latest accounting, Monday was selected for an at-large berth.

The Buckeyes collected 26 first-place votes and 1,356 points to edge the Bears, who polled 20 first-placers, by 94 points for the runner-up spot.

Bradley's Braves, running behind Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley race and fourth-ranked nationally, likely will go to the NIT in New York's Madison Square Garden if they fail to overtake the Bearcats.

Fifth-ranked West Virginia and All-America Jerry West captured a place in the NCAA classic with a weekend triumph in the Southern Conference's championship playoffs.

Utah's Skyline Conference leaders, who dropped to sixth this week, get into the NCAA if they maintain their lead over runner-up Utah State, 10th ranked. The Aggies likely will head for the NIT.

Georgia Tech, seventh-ranked and No. 2 in the Southeastern Confernce, is in the NCAA by virtue of Auburn's ineligibility. The Plainsmen, who hopped up to the 11th spot in the poll, took the SEC crown but still are on probation for recruiting irregularities.

Miami of Florida and St. Bonaventure, ranked eighth and ninth, also are tourney-bound. The Hurricanes were selected for an NCAA at-large berth. The NIT invited the Bonnies.

The first 10 teams with points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis and first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (70)	1,506
2.	Ohio State (26)	1,356

Olympic Star To Get Trial With Rangers

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)— The lean, hard-muscled Minnesotan who thrilled Olympic hockey fans is on the threshold today of that dreamland of American hockey players — the National League.

It will take an okay from goalie Jack McCartan's Army commander and some final negotiations with the New York Rangers. But if McCartan's luck stays with him, he may be in a Ranger uniform within a week.

"I know it will only be more or less a trial basis," said the 24-year-old Army noncom. "But I want to know if I can cut it in the professional league. It's a big thrill for any young hockey player, especially an American."

McCartan's Olympic exploits impressed som influential people, including Ranger General Manager Muzz Patrick. "I only saw him on TV," Patrick said in New York. "I thought he was good. That doesn't mean he will make the grade in the NHL. But if he is good, he can write his own ticket with us."

The Rangers' replacement goalie, Al Rollins, filling in for Gump Worsley, also saw the U.S.-Soviet game on TV. "If McCartan had played for Russia the U.S. would have lost," Rollins said.

McCartan planned to contact officers at Fort Carson, Colo., to see about arranging a leave. He has furlough time coming.

Yanks' Rookie Lefty Seen As Sure Starter

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— If you believe what you hear in these parts, the rookie most likely to win a regular berth in the big leagues this year is Bill Short, left-handed pitcher with the New York Yankees. Virtually everyone who saw him pitch at Richmond last year, thinks he's a cinch to make it.

The question was put to Darrell Johnson, who caught Short in the International League.

"Short is the best pitcher I've ever seen in the minor leagues," said the 32-year-old Johnson without equivocation. "He's a big league pitcher right now."

Short, 22, stands 5-9 and is a resident of Newburgh, N. Y. Last year at Richmond, he won 17 and lost 6 with a 2.46 earned run average.

Phils Signs Paul Waner As Batting Instructor

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Paul Waner, one of eight players to collect more than 3,000 hits in a major league career, is back in business today teaching others to do what he did so well.

The "Big Poison" of the Pittsburgh Pirates outfield in the 1920s and 1930s bounced back from a tuberculosis bout and heart attack last year and signed this year to teach the Philadelphia Phillies the mechanics of hitting. The Phillies officially opened spring training today.

Waner says there are three things to stress:

"Turn your head so that you are watching the pitcher with both eyes; swing down on the ball and turn that belly-button away from the pitcher when you pivot."

West Virginia Must Defense NCAA Rival

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia's basketball forces will have to play a strong defensive game if they hope to sink the Navy in the East Regional NCAA playoff in New York's Madison Square Garden next Tuesday.

That's the opinion of WVU frosh coach Quentin Barnette who scouted the Middies last Saturday in their 69-57 victory over Army.

"They'll run. They've got good speed," Barnette declared.

Navy's front line is made up of seniors — 6-3 Richard Brown and 6-2 James Bower at forwards and 6-6 Jay Metzler at center. A pair of speedy sophs — 5-10 Allen Hughes and 5-11 Dave Tremaine—operate in the backcourt.

Navy owns a 16-5 record including victories over Penn State (87-71) and Pitt (74-58). WVU whipped Penn State twice (104-74 and 75-73) and Pitt twice (76-66 and 89-75).

The Middies' losses included a pair to VPI (89-78) and NYU (69-61). WVU beat NYU (98-69) and VPI (82-72).

It's been feast or famine for WVU in NCAA play. It was famine the first four years when the Mountaineers bowed out of the NCAA competition after the first round. Last year, it was feast when WVU rolled into the finals before losing to California 71-70.

The Mountaineers are having a brief respite from practice. They'll go back to work Thursday, however. WVU Coach Fred Schaus plans to fly the team to New York next Monday.

Indiana Snaps Ohio State's Big 10 Win Streak With 99-83 Decision

By The Associated Press

Ohio State's hopes of an undefeated Big Ten basketball campaign were buried at Indiana Monday night by a hot-shooting, revenge-minded Hoosier quintet.

Indiana ripped apart the Buckeyes 99-83 and avenged its one-point loss at Columbus earlier in the season. If Indiana had won that game, the two teams would be tied for the conference lead.

But as things stand, the Buckeyes (12-1) already have won the title and a shot at the NCAA championship.

Indiana (10-3), in winning its 10th straight conference game after three opening losses, assured itself of second place. Five Hoosiers scored in double figures, Walt Bellamy getting 24 and Bob Wilkinson 21.

Jerry Lucas was high for Ohio with 27 and John Havlicek added 25. Ohio State trailed 52-38 at halftime and never could catch up.

The Hoosiers rang the bell 37 times in 70 field goal tries for a neat .529 pace, including a .606 first half (20 of 33). The Bucks, off their record average, made 34 of 81 for .420. Indiana also had a wide foul stripe margin.

Following the loss, OSU coach Fred Taylor said:

"It's a heck of a note to have the right to play in the NCAA and still have the pressure to keep a winning streak going. Indiana's rebounding really ripped us up—and that Wilkinson is a helluva good player."

Indiana coach Branch McCracken credited his defense with the victory and called Ohio State "a real fine ball club and they could win the NCAA."

The Big Ten race ends Saturday with five games. Illinois is at Northwestern, Indiana at Michigan State, Michigan at Iowa, Ohio State at Minnesota and Purdue at Wisconsin.

Northwestern climbed into a third place tie with Minnesota by defeating Wisconsin at Evanston Monday night, 73-59. Both have 8-5 records. Illinois (7-6) scored a 90-61 home-court victory over Michigan (1-12).

2 Quints Join NCAA Firing

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Welcome Texas and New Mexico State to the list of tournament champions which will compete in the NCAA tournament. But strike out Ohio State's gaudy undefeated Big Ten record when it begins competing for the national championship.

Texas, a flop a year ago with a 4-20 record, won the Southwest Conference title Monday night when it beat cellar-dwelling Rice 86-62. New Mexico State clinched the Border Conference crown with a 76-46 victory over Arizona.

But Ohio State, ranked second in this week's Associated Press poll, had its 13-0 Big Ten record muddied by a hot-shooting Indiana team that easily won 99-83.

Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked team, clinched at least a tie for the Missouri Valley crown and its ensuing NCAA berth by walloping Tulsa 110-64 as Oscar Robertson scored 43 points.

Texas and New Mexico State join Southern Conference champion West Virginia, Mid-American champ Ohio University and Ohio State as the only bona fide conference titlists to represent their loops in NCAA play so far. Georgia Tech, second in the Southeastern Conference, will be that league's representative.

Teams filling at-large berths are Miami (Fla.), Navy, NYU, Notre Dame, DePaul, California, last year's champion and Idaho State. The list will be completed after this weekend.

Texas, which hasn't been in the NCAA tournament since 1947, also got an assist from Texas Tech, which knocked off second-place Southern Methodist 71-69, making it impossible for SMU to catch the Longhorns. Each has one SWC game remaining.

Annual Holdout Season Is Underway Officially

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The holdout season got under way officially today and not a single American League club could boast all its players were in the foid.

On the other hand, four National League teams—Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Chicago and St. Louis—were 100 per cent signed.

Several full squads don't report until later in the week, but if a player isn't signed by 12:01 on March 1. He is considered a member of the holdout corps.

On that basis, here is a rundown of the discontended:

American League

Cleveland — Outfielder Rocky Colavito.

Kansas City—Pitcher Ned Garver.

Boston—Catcher Sammy White, outfielder Gary Geiger (due out of service in April).

Of the five still unsigned on the American League champion White Sox, Donovan could turn out to be the toughest. He had a disappointing season last year and is being asked to take a cut.

Mantle is being a rugged individualist with the Yanks. Twice he has rejected pleas by general manager George Weiss to go to New York's St. Petersburg, Fla., base to talk things over. His average dipped to .265 last year and he is being asked to take close to the maximum 25 per cent cut.

Colavito, the Indians' big warhead, reportedly wants $40,000 and has been offered $35,000.

Ohio Teams Break Even With Out-Of-State Foes

By The Associated Press

Ohio's collegiate basketball teams saw action in six interstate games Monday night and came out on top in exactly half.

The winners were Cincinnati, Bowling Green and Ohio University. The losers were Kent State, Miami and—yes—Ohio State.

Cincinnati trampled Tulsa 110-64 in a stretch drive for a third straight Missouri Valley Conference crown. Bowling Green overcame a 14-point deficit in the second half to defeat Loyola of Chicago 70-67. Ohio U. had no trouble whipping Morehead (Ky.) 96-66.

The battling Buckeyes of Ohio State finally took their first Big Ten loss—at the hands of Indians, 99-83. The defeat rubbed out the Bucks' chances of being the first undefeated Western Conference champion in 17 years.

Western Kentucky broke loose from a 31-all tie at halftime to overcome Kent 69-60. Miami finished out its season with a 8-18 record after Louisville romped over the Redskins 83-65.

At Bluffton College, where the NAIA District 22 (Ohio) tournament is underway, Ashland pulled a stunning upset by whipping Defiance 78-73. Defiance, Mid-Ohio League champ, went into the game with a 22-1 record—and that one loss also was at the hands of Ashland.

In the other NAIA tourney tilt, Findlay beat Ohio Northern 73-59.

Findlay takes on Ashland tonight for entry in the March 7-12 national NAIA meet at Kansas City.

In other games, Steubenville, behind the 25-point shooting of John Blanda, racked up a 77-71 victory over Central State; and John Carroll handed winless Fenn its 17th loss, 66-46.

Indiana, ranked No. 12 in the Associated Press ratings, staged a tremendous shooting exhibition in downing second-ranked Ohio State. The Hoosiers, who now are sure to finish second behind Ohio State in the Big Ten race, held a 52-38 lead at intermission and just outclassed the Buckeyes.

Tall Jerry Lucas popped in 27 points in the Bucks' losing cause, and teammate John Havlicek added 25. The loss snapped a 13-game winning streak for Ohio State which is 20-3 over-all.

Cincinnati ran up 13 straight points for a 19-4 lead, then soared away for its victory over Tulsa. It was the last home game for Bearcat Oscar Robertson who made the most of it by sinking 43 points.

Eastern Teams In NBA To Show 5 Title Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Eastern Division teams in the National Basketball Assn. will provide the five major individual champions for 1959-60.

NBA statistics released today showed Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain, chosen Monday as the loop's most valuable player and rookie of the year, is headed for the scoring and rebounding titles.

Wilt the Stilt, who already has broken the season marks in both departments, currently has 2,522 points and 1,831 rebounds.

Bob Cousy, who helped propel the Boston Celtics to their fourth straight Eastern title, is well ahead in assists with 670 and a 9.4 average.

New York's Ken Sears, who is finished for the year in order to undergo a medical checkup, has a one-point field goal percentage lead with .477 to .476 for Hal Greer of Syracuse.

Dolph Schayes of Syracuse has a substantial lead in the foul shooting with a .892 mark on 507 of 568.

Hull Ties Horvath In NHL Scoring Race

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull, with nine points in two weeks, has tied Boston's Bronco Horvath for the scoring lead in the National Hockey League — each with 73 points — according to statistics released today.

Hull, the mainstay of the Chicago Black Hawks, has been able to take advantage of a scoring famine by Horvath, who has scored only one point in two weeks and got none last week.

Horvath has 27 goals, tops in the NHL, and 36 assists while Hull has 35 and 38. The season ends March 20.

Don McKenney of Boston has the most assists — 43.

Cincy Cagers Remain No. 1

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The top 10 college basketball teams in the country, with Oscar Robertson's Cincinnati Bearcats the No. 1 attraction, all appear on the road to either the NCAA or NIT post-season glamor events.

Overwhelmingly chosen as the nation's top-ranked club in the Associated Press poll the Bearcats went out Monday night and clinched at least a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference championship with the record-breaking Big O scoring 43 points in a 110-64 thumping of Tulsa.

The Bearcats, who drew 70 first-place votes and 1,506 points in the weekly balloting of sports writers and casters, automatically qualify for the NCAA tournament if they retain the top spot in the tough league.

Ohio State, No. 2, nailed an NCAA brth by copping the Big Ten championship while defending titlist California, third-ranked in the latest accounting, Monday was selected for an at-large berth.

The Buckeyes collected 26 first-place votes and 1,356 points to edge the Bears, who polled 20 first-placers, by 94 points for the runner-up spot.

Bradley's Braves, running behind Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley race and fourth-ranked nationally, likely will go to the NIT in New York's Madison Square Garden if they fail to overtake the Bearcats.

Fifth-ranked West Virginia and All-America Jerry West captured a place in the NCAA classic with a weekend triumph in the Southern Conference's championship playoffs.

Utah's Skyline Conference leaders, who dropped to sixth this week, get into the NCAA if they maintain their lead over runner-up Utah State, 10th ranked. The Aggies likely will head for the NIT.

Georgia Tech, seventh-ranked and No. 2 in the Southeastern Confernce, is in the NCAA by virtue of Auburn's ineligibility. The Plainsmen, who hopped up to the 11th spot in the poll, took the SEC crown but still are on probation for recruiting irregularities.

Miami of Florida and St. Bonaventure, ranked eighth and ninth, also are tourney-bound. The Hurricanes were selected for an NCAA at-large berth. The NIT invited the Bonnies.

The first 10 teams with points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis and first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (70)	1,506

Olympic Star To Get Trial With Rangers

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)— The lean, hard-muscled Minnesotan who thrilled Olympic hockey fans is on the threshold today of that dreamland of American hockey players — the National League.

It will take an okay from goalie Jack McCartan's Army commander and some final negotiations with the New York Rangers. But if McCartan's luck stays with him, he may be in a Ranger uniform within a week.

"I know it will only be more or less a trial basis," said the 24-year-old Army noncom. "But I want to know if I can cut it in the professional league. It's a big thrill for any young hockey player, especially an American."

McCartan's Olympic exploits impressed som influential people, including Ranger General Manager Muzz Patrick. "I only saw him on TV," Patrick said in New York. "I thought he was good. That doesn't mean he will make the grade in the NHL. But if he is good, he can write his own ticket with us."

The Rangers' replacement goalie, Al Rollins, filling in for Gump Worsley, also saw the U.S.-Soviet game on TV. "If McCartan had played for Russia the U.S. would have lost," Rollins said.

McCartan planned to contact officers at Fort Carson, Colo., to see about arranging a leave. He has furlough time coming.

Yanks' Rookie Lefty Seen As Sure Starter

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— If you believe what you hear in these parts, the rookie most likely to win a regular berth in the big leagues this year is Bill Short, left-handed pitcher with the New York Yankees. Virtually everyone who saw him pitch at Richmond last year, thinks he's a cinch to make it.

The question was put to Darrell Johnson, who caught Short in the International League.

"Short is the best pitcher I've ever seen in the minor leagues," said the 32-year-old Johnson without equivocation. "He's a big league pitcher right now."

Short, 22, stands 5-9 and is a resident of Newburgh, N. Y. Last year at Richmond, he won 17 and lost 6 with a 2.46 earned run average.

Phils Signs Paul Waner As Batting Instructor

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Paul Waner, one of eight players to collect more than 3,000 hits in a major league career, is back in business today teaching others to do what he did so well.

The "Big Poison" of the Pittsburgh Pirates outfield in the 1920s and 1930s bounced back from a tuberculosis bout and heart attack last year and signed this year to teach the Philadelphia Phillies the mechanics of hitting. The Phillies officially opened spring training today.

Waner says there are three things to stress:

"Turn your head so that you are watching the pitcher with both eyes; swing down on the ball and turn that belly-button away from the pitcher when you pivot."

Rocky Road To Romance

Rumors Can Take A Rest As Maggie Makes Choice

By NORMA GAUHN
Associated Press Writer

That has been the lot of Princess Margaret Rose, the lively younger sister of Britain's Queen Elizabeth.

Rumors may start on such flimsy evidence as a dinner date—even though the couple always is in a group of six or more.

Tongues wag if a princess dances more than once with the same young man. Or if an eligible nobleman comes to call. Or if the two are guests at the same house party.

Now all those tales have been laid to rest with the announcement by the queen mother that Margaret Rose is betrothed to 29-year-old court photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Five months older than the princess, Armstrong-Jones is the son of the countess of Rosse and a prominent London jurist, R.O.L. Armstrong-Jones.

As with other beaus, Margaret's friendship with the young man did not go unnoticed. They were first seen dating early last year at theater parties and social events.

The "is it serious?" talk began when Armstrong-Jones took an official picture of the princess on her 29th birthday in August—even though some critics said it was badly composed.

The princess herself had learned to ignore the gossip. Once, while her sister was being groomed for the queenship, Margaret remarked: "The papers will turn Lilibet into the dull one, so they have to make me gay."

Margaret Rose — affectionately called "Maggie" in the pubs and tabloid press—did little to discourage romantic rumors and, in fact, seemed to enjoy keeping people guessing.

Margaret touched off talk and sometimes controversy. In 1949 the princess, then 19, was photographed on holiday in Italy in a one-piece bathing suit; seen smoking a cigarette, rarely done by royal ladies in public; and had an audience with Pope Pius XII that annoyed some British Protestants.

But the fact that Margaret was not the frivolous butterfly pictured in newspaper headlines came through in her unhappy romance with Group Capt. Peter Townsend, equerry to the royal family and 14 years older than the princess.

Townsend had divorced his wife in 1952 on grounds of adultery and was awarded custody of their two children. But under ancient law, Margaret could not marry until she was 25 without the Queen's consent.

And Elizabeth could hardly give consent as nominal head of the Church of England, which frowns on divorced persons remarrying. Many thought that when Margaret reached her 25th birthday, she would follow her heart.

But in the stern tradition of royalty, duty came before love. In a statement Margaret said she knew she could contract a civil marriage by renouncing her rights of succession to the throne.

"But," she added, "mindful of the church's teaching that Christian marriage is indissoluble and conscious of my duty to the Commonwealth, I have put these considerations before any others."

Four years have passed since that unhappy time, and now marriage—at a date to be set later—is in store for the fairy princess.

Armstrong-Jones appears to be emotionally well suited to the fun-loving Margaret. At least they have quite a bit in common.

Who will be the boss in the household is anyone's guess, but Margaret is not adverse to having the man wear the pants in the family.

"When I marry," she once said, "I need someone firm to keep me in order."

Pike Resigns For Vote Post

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has announced the resignation of Atty. Charles Pike, as special assistant prosecutor, to accept appointment as a Republican member of the Columbiana County Board of Elections.

The prosecutor said Atty. Thelma G. Hall, the county's only practicing woman attorney, has been named to succeed him. Pike had been special assistant since Jan. 1, 1958. Both reside in Lisbon.

The special assistant handles non-support cases, initiated in this county and received from other states, which are processed under the Uniform Reciprocal Support of Dependents Act. To date, there has been approximately 125 cases under this act, resulting in the collection of upwards of $15,000 in support money for dependent children.

Mrs. Hall passed the Ohio State Bar examination in August 1940. She served as an attorney in the Veterans Administration at Columbus during the war years. From 1946-1955, she resided in California, returning to Lisbon in 1955. Since then she has been associated with the law firm of Moore & Moore, becoming a partner in January 1957. Mrs. Hall will handle the special assistant prosecutor's duties in her own office at a salary of $150 per month.

Charities Goal Seen In Sight

Midland's Combined Charities goal of $37,282 is expected to be reached if the Crucible Combined Charities conducts its own drive in the mill in the next month, it was announced at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Area Charities Monday evening.

Charles L. Smith, drive chairman, said that pledges and other amounts total some $33,000 now with only about $4,000 needed to reach the goal.

Though no house-to-house drive was conducted this year, persons wishing to contribute may contact any member of the board. Money is being raised through the solicitation of corporations, retail business and employes.

The Rev. George H. Bohlender and School Supt. Ralph H. Jewell were appointed by David Schwerha, president, as the board's representatives to attend a meeting of the admissions and allocations committee of the United Fund of Beaver County the afternoon and evening of March 17 at the Penn-Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

Some 19 countywide organizations and 2 local — the Hot Stove League and East Liverpool City Hospital — benefit from the drive.

East Fairfield WSCS To Join Prayer Service

The WSCS of the Methodist Church will join with the Rogers WSCS for an observance of "World Day of Prayer" Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melczak of Cleveland were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Mercer.

Mrs. William Wilson was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Prestly Wilson of Columbiana.

College Co-operative Training Program Adopted At Crucible

George M. Burrier, manager of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., announced today the company's participation as employer-sponsor in a college co-operative training program in conjunction with the University of Cincinnati and nearby high schools.

In participating in such a co-operative training program, Crucible hopes to meet the need for both mechanical and metallurgical engineers that are academically trained and seasoned with approximately 2 years related work experience.

Students who are interested in Crucible's training program and who would like additional information should contact their local high school office. The deadline for acceptance by the University of Cincinnati for this co-operative training program is March 15.

The program is based on the sponsorship through employment of pairs of students who have met the entrance requirements of graduation from an accredited high school.

Students must be in the upper third of their graduation class and have a B average grade or an 80 per cent average in mathematics, including trigonometry, and sciences, including chemistry and physics. Four years of high school English also is required.

All applicants must have tendencies indicating good leadership and potentialities. Students meeting these requirements must then be acceptable to the company. After company acceptance, students begin their education in September and continue at the university until April of the following year, at which time one member of the student pair will enter employment at Crucible.

At the end of his assigned period of employment, the work students returns to the university and is succeeded by the second member of the student pair.

Local educators have been notified of Crucible's acceptance of this program, Burrier said.
